Thread: The lounge cleanup?

Larry Lovestein - November 27, 2014, 11:34 am

Hello! So. I was in the lounge today and noticed there are 19k+ pages!?!?!?!?

I DON'T MEAN DELETE ALL THREADS! JUST THE ONES THAT YOU CANNOT OPEN!

Wanted to know if we can get a cleanup on them since the threads say they are not specified when you try to click on them....

So, can we please get a lounge section cleanup?

What's the point in having a clean up? I mean it might be good but in all honesty, theres no real point.

ZuGgY - November 27, 2014, 11:35 am

No, it does not need a clean up, lol.

Sakuto - November 27, 2014, 11:35 am

Site is not laggy, so I don't think it's really important ...

Aceman - November 27, 2014, 11:47 am

What's the purpose of this? The only thing it would accomplish is to lower some members post count and delete part of HF's history. Many members still look back on these old threads to remind them of old times. Sure it would reduce the database to some degree but I don't think it'd be fair to delete a ton of topics besides the ones which are unspecified.

It's kinda pointless to keep this (Image below)

I don't mean delete everything inside of it. Just the threads that are super old maybe past 1k

<https://gyazo.com/117e728e3dcba3e44b1db7cea86b6c9f>Page 1,000 is only in June of 2014. You'd still be deleting quite a lot of recent stuff.

Ok, well it was just a suggestion. Please read the RED BOLD text in the thread for an updated response.

Since it's not giving us delays, who cares?

All page are almost instant, I never had lag or w/e ...

630 - November 27, 2014, 12:50 pm

I see no need. The only result will people getting pissed over pruned posts.

ocherries - November 27, 2014, 1:44 pm

I don't really see the point, there's no important need to clean the lounge up. In my opinion.

justg - November 27, 2014, 1:45 pm

I'm pretty sure this would mean people would lose hundreds if not thousands of posts. No need.

Larry Lovestein - November 27, 2014, 1:49 pm

Ok, well to many posts to quote...

You guys obviously don't understand. It wont affect anybody post count! If you go to the last page try to go to a thread! And you wont be able to because there is no thread poster! Thats what I am saying we should get rid of.

SoulZeh - November 27, 2014, 2:02 pm

If I remember correctly Omniscient wanted to actually do something about this but it may be at the start of the year, I can't even remember, it may of been something like that or he didn't wanna touch it.

Thanks for noting this. I just feel like the threads that are not accessible are useless and just taking up space.

Ivy Mike - November 27, 2014, 10:12 pm

What's the point in this? All this will do is reduce users post count, and piss off users subsequently. There is no need for it. I can understand pruning junked threads, but junking threads which aren't is just pointless.

Tony Stark - November 28, 2014, 4:51 am

No need for a clean up. It's fine.
