Is jays booter working anymore? Thanks in advance.

Shike - November 28, 2014, 2:13 am

Yup.

Not well.

But it works.

But you won't notice more than likely unless your target is running on DSL.

Anyways, yeah it works.

So does LOIC.

Low Orbit Ion Canon.

Check that out too.

It works.

Just not well.

I think it's safe to say that Jays Booter now a days is just a virus and it has never worked properly in like 5 years.

Hazy - November 28, 2014, 2:15 am

Yes it does work, but it will not do anything to the targeted IP Address.

ibizoz - November 28, 2014, 2:24 am

Ah, what u think is the best booter atm?

There's plenty of decent booters in this forums section:

To answer your question accurately unlike the trolls in this thread. Jays Booter or any free booter alike use your home connection to attack the target you specified. So relatively speaking, if you have x2 better connection(Upload) than your target, you can take them down. I recommend checking out the premium seller section or investing in a private-layer dedicated server to attack people(No, it's not free.). Beggars cannot be choosers.

No offense, i didn't see any trolling in this thread.

If you mean people saying yes it works, myself included, that is not false. You said it yourself...

Curious where the trolls are.

I may have joked a bit, but there was no trollololing done here except maybe pentium.

all depends.

nvm

Get a VPS that has a stronger connection than your victim, load Jay's Booter onto it. Try to hit them offline, let me know the results. ?

Yore - November 28, 2014, 7:45 am

Lol Jays booter? You shouldn't even use that... LOIC is the way to go :D

Payne - November 28, 2014, 7:46 am

Yes I've DDoSed google for some minutes
