Thread: College got raided.. And I got searched.

Auxil - December 4, 2014, 7:25 pm

Well, I am a Junior in HS, and teach at a local college for my first class.

Well, I am lecturing, and a policeman comes in, and says these exact words: "Alright everyone, get up, leave your stuff and go to the commons area." (Central room. Basically conference room / lobby.)

I went to the commons area, with everyone else, just making jokes with friends, and things, and next thing I know, I feel a hand squeeze my shoulder like he was gonna karate chop me or something. I look up, and a SWAT / DEA looking guy says "Come with me, now."
All my friends looked at me like "Oh my god bro, for real?"
(I am an active marijuana user, and have only had it at school a few times due to deals.)

I honestly couldn't remember if I had some with me or not, due to being a bit high that morning..

Well, I walk in the classroom, and he points at my bookbag that the dog is barking at, and tells me to open it.

I reply back with "I don't have to."

He says "Just fucking open it kid."

My original programming teacher looks at me, and says "Just open it, Adobe."

I opened it, and the dog is barking louder than ever, and I pull out a bag of homemade deer jerky, and the dog starts looking at me like all sad-like. I then said "Is this what you want? Take me to jail now officer!" I hand the dog a piece of jerky, and the it gobbles it up.

The SWAT guy got pissed at me for feeding the dog, but all the police guys in the back laughed their ass off about it.

I live in the South of the US, so deer meat, and things like that are very common in this area. My mom makes the best deer jerky, and I thought to bring some to school. Everyone loves it, and several kids offer sexual favors for more of the jerky. No joke.

nitrofun - December 4, 2014, 7:27 pm

Eeeeh, the tossing it to the dog type thing is kinda getting me on the "is it real" or "pretty funny" side.

Throwing anything to a police dog, for all they know, could have drugs on it, and could piss the SWAT off.

Let alone, I can't recall K9's being trained for jerky, even though they do like it. I thought they were trained to only bark at the things they're trained to find?

Just my opinion.

Not at all a troll bro, I swear. I'll take a pic of some jerky when the next batch is done. Takes 6-8 hours.

coco69 - December 4, 2014, 7:29 pm

Nice story Op, sounds legit (lol im serious)

Good thing everything went well man

Op be getting head from bitches for deer jerky xD

Eagerkid - December 4, 2014, 7:30 pm

Im confused, your in high school but you teach at a college? And i dont think someone would offer sexual favors for deer jerky, but if they really do where can i get some..JK

The dogs going to bark at food, other animals smells, it's doggy nature.

They bark at things they trained to find, and also when officers make subtles hints.

Like WTFI am no longer his teacher, but I can verify that I do refer to him as Adobe.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)I'm not really his teacher of course, but in the OP it states that he was his OLD programming teacher. Get your fucking facts straight. <-- JK <3

I presume that he used his alias as a substitution of his name so that he doesn't expose his forename :) Either that or he put Adobe because it wasn't a real life scenario and he didn't think it through and the story was bullshit. But let's go with the first one :)

OT: \(Click to View\)That's a hilarious story, OP! I'd love to have an anecdote similar to that which had happened to me ^^

My teacher never actually got her degree, and got the job a week before school started, and knows nothing of computers. She uses IE, and thinks binary is a coding language.

They are trained to bark at drugs, but it takes a while to break them from their natural nature of barking at food.
