First of all I have went over the introduction to visual basic.net pinned topic on HF, and gathered some information, and printed it off, which I will read later on.

Well the title of the thread mainly explains this, but I will go in to a bit more depth. I'm currently looking for either a mentor or some that can explains this in depth, the basic to visual basic 6 has i'm looking to get in to eclipse original RPG maker I would love to learn how to make my own 2d type of engine or add to the additional features.

someone out there must be able to help me. ?
