Thread: World trigger / phantasy star universe.

Does anyone else get a phantasy star universe kinda vibe from world trigger? It's mostly the weapons and monsters that remind of the game though.

World Trigger is trash and I feel bad for you if you're actually watching it.

I loved playing PSU on xbox back in the day.

Only game I paid monthly to play.

I was kind of hyped for World Trigger but I dropped after the first episode. If it didn't have the dumb faces every second I'd watch.

I'm interested to see how everything plays out.

I wouldn't give it up after watching single episode...

I can kind of see the similarity between the game and anime.

As for what Endomous said, I can kind of sympathize. The two main characters constantly make stupid faces. One is constantly making derp faces while the other constantly looks pissed off. No reason to drop the anime though.

But I have a bit of high hopes for this anime. It has been confirmed for 24 episodes and I personally feel that the progression has been rather nice.

I'm not bias on art, shit I fell in love with Kingdom and don't regret it though the art was terrible when it first started. This show has a good story to tell and I dig it, I won't be thrown off by faces ppl make in a cartoon lol. So I'll give this one a chance, it's not like a lot of anime where I can instantly tell it's retarded, I like to think I have good taste in shows. Though I would never re-watch this one, it's definitely one I'll watch till the end and forget about probably.
