Set & Forget Method Easily Make $10-20/day

Hey everyone! I wanted to share with you a pretty simple method that requires no start up cash and can be done by pretty much anyone.

Always remember any method you see can always be customized to your liking for even more profit! Be creative and you can find either uses for this technique.

Overview

In it's simplest form here is all we will be doing. Posting job openings on various sites, having people email a brief resume to our 'business email', set up an auto responder to reply to them with our 'company interview process' aka a survey, profit!

Step 1 - Find our affiliate partner

For this we will need an affiliate partner that pays us for having people fill out surveys. Any will do and you can easily find ratings/discussions all over the forum. But just to give you two to get started with AdWorkMedia and CPAGrip are fairly decent ones!

All you need to do is sign up and you will have a selection of surveys and how much they pay when you get people to complete them.

Step 2 - Create a 'business looking' email

You can get away with gmail but do some research and you might find nicer e-mail providers out there. For our purpose make sure the email provider you choose has a auto responder (sometimes also called vacation setting).

If you're using a gmail just try to make up a fake formal name also upload a profile picture of a businessy looking man/or even woman. Men tend to work better for this, yes unusual but i'll explain why soon.

So let's say your email is something like: AndrewParsons@gmail.com
(Fake name I just made up)

You want it to seem like it's the personal e-mail of the business owner. Because in society the perception is men are always the owners of "successful" businesses, so they think I should trust this guy can give me a solid job.

(Don't forget your 'sucessful' businessman looking profile picture) ?

Step 3 - Set up the magic auto responder and choose your survey

Some surveys have very big payouts but low conversion rates because they either come off as spammy or ask for credit card information.

Try to find one that you think converts well. Any niche will do which you will understand why soon.

So let's say I find a nice survey that pays me $1.25 per completion in the car insurance niche. I get my affiliate link for the survey and boom it's go time.

Now here is the part you need to focus on. Let's say the survey website/title is "Infinite Auto Analytics" (random name I made up). Now everything you do should be titled around that which will be explained in step 4.

For your auto responder put a simple yet professional looking message. Something along the lines of.

Quote:TITLE: Thank You!

Message:

Thank you for taking the time to apply! Infinite Auto Analytics is always looking for talented individuals. I'd love to get in touch with you preferably tomorrow. Before I can continue with an interview I need you to take our brief questionnaire to help me determine your previous experience in the auto analytics industry. Once you've completed it I will review your result and determine if you qualify for this position.

Click Here To Go To The Questionnaire

Sincerely,

- Andrew Parsons

Infinite Auto Analytics Human Relations & Recruiting

Structure your e-mail something like this and it will come across as very professional.

Notice a few keys in the e-mail

1. I said "I'd like to get in touch tomorrow" this creates the need of urgency and your reader will think they have to do it now rather than later.

2. Notice I did not throw up an ugly link. I hyper-linked it making it look professional and not suspicious.

3. I made it personal and I even put my 'fake' position at the company.

Step 4 - Posting on Job Sites

Craigslist is only one of the sources you can use. It's the most obvious so you should start with that then branch out to other sites. Here is an example of one of the ads I put up.

For this example I actually did not link to a survey I took it way further which I will explain in the final step 5 ? .

Things to Notice

- I advertise this as a work from home job
- I put some BS 'small company' looking photo to make it look legit
- I put the usual bs as job requirements ?

So try to make your advertisements something like this but of course with your own twist to it.

Step 5 - Scale it Big Time

Here are tips to help you take this up to a much higher level and earn more than $20/day.

- Post on multiple job sites.
- Create multiple niches
- Use custom domain e-mails to seem more legit

Conclusion

Imagine having 30 or so craigslist ads up with this method. Getting a couple hundred e-mails per day and having 10-20 survey completions daily (very reasonable) you can easily be making $10-20 day. Set and forget autopilot!

I really hope this helps you newcomers make your first few dollars. Now go out there and kill it ?

But there are also other networks beside AdWorkMedia

thanks :)

For the website name and company name you use the name of the company whose offer you sending them in those email auto replies. For example. If the offer you picked was car insurance quotes by MegaCarQuotes.com your company name on craigslist would be either exactly the same or very similar.

Depending on the section you put the ad in. Anything in the 'gigs' section is free.

You can find 'instant acceptance' guides if you do some searching. But since they will be paying you it's best to use your real information.

Dr.Hurlu - December 30, 2014, 6:24 pm

Yous .. do you need to cloak this ? Some cpa's don't allow email advertisement, I guess that would involve some kind of landing page (although I don't know how to make one I could learn).

Just make your life simpler and use a CPA system that allows e-mail (which is already most)

My question is what do you put in for "Your website" when you sign up for the CPA sites?

I put older websites of mine, sometimes random twitter handles, and sometimes nothing. If you are having trouble with this try starting off with easy or auto accept networks.

(Feb 20, 2015 11:19 PM)Ashly Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i gave this a try and all my postings get flagged, any suggestions?

Here is the best way to keep it up

1. Make it look very professional similar to the one in my example. Scammy looking work from home shit usually gets flagged.
2. Post a large number of listings in smaller cities rather than a small number of listings in large cities. Don't post in New York, LA, and Dallas post in small towns doing this also gives you a better conversion rate as people searching through the bigger cities tend to have their scam alert sensors on but people searching in smaller cities tend to have their guard down.
3. Do not use a spammy too good to be true title, make it sound like a legitimate job.
4. Make your e-mail and offer used also as high quality as possible. If you have a super low quality e-mail message people will right away think 'scam' and flag your listing.
5. Use different IP's. If you post 30 listings and get flagged 30 times craigslist will take note of your IP.

Hope this helps ?

illinifan - February 21, 2015, 12:40 pm

I'll give it a shot, thanks for the info Yous

A google search could help you. But your best bet is to buy a small list of private proxies for a few dollars because you won't need too many of them so it will be cheap and they will work the best.

Just google "buy private proxies"

I've had that happen to me before. It means you're either doing too many listings per day, your listings instantly got flagged by their staff, or you're trying to post in a major city.

If all else fails it can't hurt to invest $10-20 on getting a # to use for these kinds of verifications, it comes handy in the future yeah well , I tried posting a single posting but I don;t know what bug is in there on craigslist only call verification works , I clicked on sms verification still it says Call in progress , I tried it many times so it says I tried a lot .

But I found out a solution for receiving calls , I will try it out tomorrow because they won't let me today.

Most CPA networks don't let you do your own surveys.
I would suggest against trying your own even with VPN/Proxies since there is a high chance you will get banned

method is good... thanks for information

SW6er - March 19, 2015, 4:34 pm

craigslist actually charges quite a big amount of fee for job posting, which is a big downside, any other site that you recommend?

Krautpower123 - March 25, 2015, 10:58 am

Does anyone has any tips on how to pass the craigslist phone verification since im from eu :(. Any sites where you can buy virtual phone numbers which pass the verification?

Thx a lot

i have a question: the "victims" need to pay something when they complete the survey? or they just need to complete the survey, to put theirs mail..etc

Depends what survey they select. But in most providers you are able to only select surveys that require no payment. The ones with payment obviously pay more but most people exit out when they see payment. ?

tmoorer1995 - May 29, 2015, 10:03 am

Yous - July 2, 2015, 8:29 am

So many people said they will do it but I want to see some earnings. On some of my other threads i've seen people posting what they've made and haven't made.

TheLordCrazy - July 2, 2015, 8:35 am

I can't seem to find a good offer for the job. I've tried looking at the one in awm and cpagrip, but there aren't any "job" related ones..

Mannerheim - July 2, 2015, 8:41 am

Will when i post he ask me a US phone certification code before i publish the enroll thread.

I dont have U.S phone.

You could be trying to post in a major city which requires verification.

Mannerheim - July 2, 2015, 9:30 am

No, it's an anti spam surveillance system by craglist, if your IP detected as non US ip, then they asking you for phone verification, i registered a new account and poating in small cities stilll same, does anybody here facing same problem e?

TheRepsAreLying - July 2, 2015, 12:30 pm

This is very interesting! Thank you :)

optrader - July 3, 2015, 8:32 pm

lol @ how many of you are missing basic knowledge about craigslist and such... you cannot even use autoresponder for craigslist's masked email addresses, one thing that you can do is writing your email address in the post itself with every kind of twists because it's also not allowed just writing "@gmail..." as it is, blacklisted...

kratomfiend - July 15, 2015, 9:15 am

Im going to give this a go it looks very promising!

Duke Da Beast - July 15, 2015, 11:43 am

Every time I post on CL all of my posts get flagged and removed within minutes..?
Except when I post an ad in the for sale section those ads of mine never get flagged.

kooper87 - July 15, 2015, 5:52 pm

You know there are other job sites out there besides CL. Try Kijiji, odesk, other freelance sites.

derekweb - July 16, 2015, 7:42 am

The only deal here that is kinda difficult to find a legit campaign on both awm or cpagrip, they all look spammy af.

derdevil55 - July 16, 2015, 12:45 pm

thx bro

my used this methods

Sai-Bear Tooth - August 20, 2015, 10:18 pm

This thread is almost 2 years old now.

Funny enough there is huge potential for this on sites that try to knockoff craigslist.

... yes it still works ?
