Hustle You Way To Big $$$! GO RIGHT TO THE SOURCE!

Hey everyone!

Just wanted to share a concept similar to one I plan on putting into action in the near future.

It's simple. Buy products for cheap, market them as high end, sell for a shit load higher than you paid for it! A great example I choose to use is USB's

Sites I use for suppliers: dhgate aliexpress.com
alibaba.com
ioffer.com

I'm sure all you computer people know a 256GB USB runs easily around $70+

So it's safe to say we have a decent margin on this product. It costs $6.48 for us to get it and we can sell it for let's say... $95.00 (especially after marketing it as a high end product)

So i'm not going to get into any unnecessary stuff. You understand that the margin is big on this usb already. Maybe we would be able to sell it for around $45.00 before marketing and maybe $95-120 after!

The Magic Of Marketing
Welcome to your marketing crash course

Okay so if you wanted to be normal quick and plain you'd buy maybe 10 of those USB's for about $70. Sell them on amazon or ebay for $45-58 each and take your profits. But why not with the power of marketing make our product instantly worth double!

Make it appear as a luxury item, make a basic website and structure your site as a luxury accessory site. Then BOOM. You're in business.

Let's say we are marketing the gold USB. We can easily market this as a luxury item. If we do it similar to the way those in the watch industry market their products. Doing this can instantly create more value for us!

Observe...

People in the market to buy a 256 GB USB already know they are going to be paying a good $90+ it's just already what they expect. BUT! What if you offered them the SEXY, SLEEK, GOLD USB that you see all the successful people using on instagram!

But wait Yous..... how the hell am I going to get a picture of me holding my gold USB next a fucking Bentley!

YOU DON'T HAVE TO! For a simple investment and a few exchanges of emails you go to these people on instagram and tell them about your product. Something like:

"256GB's of Storage for the serious businessman"

"The new sleek and sexy way to carry around important business files, for true high end business professionals"

.....You get the idea

Send out 5-10 samples to people you exchange e-mails with. Tell them you will give them your 'super powerful sexy amazing modern businessman usb' for free if they feature it on their Instagram!

Which knowing these kind of people will be dying to do so because

1. They want to appear famous and as if they get cool sponsorships
2. They want to show off that they got the coolest latest thing first

Make sure the USB is already listed on your simple website for a large amount something like $178.99. This makes them think they are getting a $200 high end, high quality item for free just to post a picture of them using it!

Also offer to give them a custom coupon code with their name in it to give to their friends. Make it a pretty big discount something like 30%. Because this adds EVEN MORE VALUE! Because their friends think they have an inside deal on a high end product. When in reality you are selling a fucking $6.48 usb for well over $100!

But wait... LET'S ADD EVEN MORE VALUE! Make it 'Limited Edition' make it a product you only sell around maybe November-December. This creates urgency to buy it and people think they will get a rare unique item that has limited quantities around the world!

Alright so let me wrap this up...

NOTICE THIS!

1. None of the instagram pictures I used were from major companies they were from individuals (real people with followers) on instagram.

2. You only need a simple website that appears super high end and fancy.

Simple watch website example: <http://www.tayroc.com/>

Advanced (will add a shit ton of extra value) website example: <http://www.cornichewatches.com/>

3. THIS DOES NOT ONLY APPLY TO USB's BE CREATIVE USE YOUR BRAIN THINK AND YOU WILL BE ABLE TO SELL THINGS FOR 40x MORE THAN THEY ARE WORTH WITH EASE. THE USB WAS JUST MY EXAMPLE

If you want to see more examples of how the watch industry creates value check out instagram.com/dailywatch they feature 1000's of the kinds of pictures I just showed you and they @ the person in the picture 80% of the time. You can also check out instagram.com/menwithclass

I really hope you enjoyed reading this. If you'd like to see more threads like this please reply and let me know what you think ?

I like your way of thinking, it's similar to the marketing strategies of cellphone companies , for example iphone vs androids , where as they both do the same thing iphones are double the price of an android.

If by this you mean the supplier you don't have to worry. Chinese USB manufacturers probably don't spend too much time on HackForums ?

The suppliers already have a business. It's supplying that's what they know and understand. It would be difficult for them to get into selling elsewhere for various reasons. In that world it's currently "the latest newest trend" for suppliers in china to put their products on amazon or etsy for 50% more haha.

Also the USB is just ONE example of the millions of products on those sites.

Thanks for you for the reply ,yeah your right the main purpose of this stuff is for others to sell, but I have a question ,off topic how do you think one would go about making a profile like that of they own I mean they get alot of free staff to take a picture of it and post plus getting paid autopilot because I saw one guy only changing 80 dollars for shoutout , and I wonder would it be a good investment to fake it till you make it, like buy followers so you look legit then post till you get someone to ask for shoutout ,what you think?

Being famous has it's perks absolutely. But the truth about that industry is that you can't really fake taking pictures with million dollar cars and $10k+ watches.

But.... what you can do is create a sort of fan page. You know how there are all those gym pages with quotes + workout tips? Make that but with watches and cars. Grow it to a 1m+ following and the free stuff/profit will take care of itself.

As for faking it till you make it that only works to a certain extent. I only believe in buying 2k-20k followers when you are just starting to instantly build some credibility. Nobody wants to follow a guy following 8000 people and is followed by 450 everyone associates that with being a loser. Which is why when starting off buying 'fakes' for cheap helps give some credibility.

I like this tactic but when buying things from ali-baba you must make sure you check the person your purchasing it from if they have sold a lot and reviews, there are many people multi-accounting on there unfortunately

Always when you plan on spending more than $100 on Alibaba I try to ask the sellers to send a sample of the product. It's common practice to ask for samples on alibaba but sometimes you need to say that you are interested in buying 5,000 units a month or something crazy to get them super excited and willing to send you a sample. Then when the time actually comes to buy just say something about how the sample was not perfect but you are willing to give it a 'test run in a test market' and then you buy your smaller quantities ?

Professional marketing stragety. Good job!

Geackoo - December 30, 2014, 8:46 am

Great thread! Well written and great contribution! Although I'd like to point out one thing for everyone trying to do this, USB Flash drives you buy from these Chinese wholesales CAN be fake. Which means that they have way lower capacity than they tell you they have. They are just programmed to show they are able to store 64gb, but in reality they only store 2GB or less and will make files corrupted.

This is a really great technique with other products too though, but I just wanted to warn people before trying this out. ;)

good luck, except those usb drives are like half the size. you also need a way to spread hardcore, not manually, unless you spend 16 hours on the computer maybe you'll make enough money to buy a pack of cigarettes a week for a month. also shipping is 7-14 days from china, literally.

About the shipping part, I bought a mouse and keyboard from Amazon - they won't be here until the 14th and I ordered 'em the 26th of Dec. They're shipping from New York to the west coast, so the shipping part doesn't seem too outrageous seeing as I'm waiting that long for stuff that comes from the United States. Does that make sense?

OT: nice guide OP, I like the idea however I could see it being hard to sell anything.

"those usb drives are like half the size"

The entire point of this thread is not USB's.... it's marketing something to increase it's value and make it more desirable.

You also can request the supplier to send you a free sample to test the product (so if someone was lazy and did the exact USB I suggested they could test the memory on it)

"you also need a way to spread hardcore, not manually"

I'm not sure what you mean by 'spread hardcore' as I don't see this as a virus. If by spread hardcore you mean promote the product and sell it that is a lesson for another day (stay tuned to my threads ;))

"also shipping is 7-14 days from china"

I don't see how this is a problem. This is not a drop shipper this is a product supplier so you order stock to where you live and sell the product from your location. You don't let the customer order then make the purchase one by one from the supplier.

Thank you for taking the time to read it. The reason you might have a hard time seeing how you will sell your product is because this thread explains how to market the product to a higher value and how to make it more desireable. I could have a thread about sales and selling things to make things much more clear in the future so stay tuned and stick with me haha ?

The point of the thread is not only USB's, and you can, as I said a few times in other replies request samples and test them even if you were to do USB's. But the point of this thread is how to market something to a higher value and make an item more desirable the USB was my example the point is for you guys to find your own products using your own brains ?

I'm considering making a part 2 in which I spoonfeed you guys a awesome method to do this with no investment

Who would be interested in that?

Yegg - June 2, 2015, 8:12 am

Quote: Because their friends think they have an inside deal on a high end product. When in reality you are selling a fucking $6.48 usb for well over $100!

I fucking lol'd so hard , hahahahahah great thread, yours is sick dude

I would read a fucking horoscope written by you, to be honest. Drop that shit bro

The Last of Us - June 2, 2015, 11:51 am

Nice tutorial!

I would really like a part 2!

iBeerMan - June 2, 2015, 9:24 pm

very nice topic, id be very interested in part 2!

Savage Matt - June 2, 2015, 11:59 pm

Solid method, Need investment and a good marketing strategy. This is a very saturated market but with the right items you could hit it big.

that is a nice idea, can't wait

Yous - December 16, 2015, 3:29 pm

Anyone who was interested in this thread my new ebook The Social Blueprint contains some interesting similarities and actionable points. With a MAJOR twist to turn this into a $100/day autopilot business

Damn, one person on the forum who has actually shown they know a fucking thing about marketing.

Tired of seeing other members pretend to be "businessmen". You have real knowledge. Great thread.

Be careful, that 6 dollar usb is 6 dollars for a reason. The internal controller that manages the memory is jacked up to half a TB without actually having the space, so when people try to load photos and other files on it they will be lost and irrecoverable.

Agreed. Usually you get what you pay for.

However I like to consider 2 factors that work in my favor.

1. Look for the absolute highest ratings even if the price is near double.
2. Because it's such an inexpensive device if you get a customer complaint you can provide excellent customer service by offering to send them out another one free.

If they paid you $90 for it, you spend let's say $14 on the highest rated USB , even if you send them out another one you're still doing amazing on profit.

I see what you are saying, but the product in and of itself is maliciously designed - there is no possibly way to purchase that amount of memory for that little of a price. Any replacement you send them will have the same exact amount of memory (usually 32 gigs) and a hacked controller making it look like half a tb.

Seems you have a good understanding of technology. Better than me ?

I completely agree they will be much less in capacity but I feel the type of person to purchase this would not store much on there. Maybe some pictures, spreadsheet, some video files.

But that's just an opinion. We won't know unless we test it.

The usb that says 256 gb isn't really that much I bought one and it only had 4 go but says it has 256gb and got I'm a lot of trouble when sold it on eBay.

There are thousands of products out there, you dont have to base only on USB, moreover you should care less about the producer nor supplier as long as you have already bought the product from them, if their price goes up so yours should as well go up, they are trying to market their product not keep to themselves.

this tutorial is awesome You, you always surprise me with your post.

Very nice tutorial m8. Deff some useful information.

Col2eight - February 14, 2016, 5:49 pm

Good guide. Smart thinking to take the next step. I'm always unsure about ordering in bulk because I'm afraid there won't be as high of demand as I hope. So I just don't do it lol. (And I wonder why I'm not making money...)

You thank you for sharing, I just a question.

If we think about It, how do we ship to people? If we buy the product we must receive It first and then ship, for me It's almost impossible to do that (Due to that fact that the shipment sending fees are high and the company that ships to outside my country Isn't trust worthy) so what advice do you give? Do you know a website like loffer and those you listed that send directly blank shipment boxes without telling the price and the source? would really like to hear from you, you're awesome!

Arrogance - July 9, 2016, 5:23 am

USB drives from those kind of sites actually do not have the real advertised amount of GB.

Premade - July 11, 2016, 4:29 pm

Thanks great tutorial, the methods will definitely bring money!

Mr J - July 11, 2016, 7:02 pm

This methodology never gets old just push the profit to the max dumb ass people like stuff to be expensive and i like money tumcio1234 - July 19, 2016, 11:45 am

Its hard to find lot of people who want to buy 256 Gb pendrive :)
the 64 one is enough for most of them

I am debating publishing a new version of this.

A full business plan on a specific niche and exactly how to bank from it. Let me know if you guys are interested in that.

Won't say until I decide to publish the tutorial.

Hint* a very specific sub-niche in clothing.
