

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: I just read an interesting article...

SIM-2315787 - December 9, 2014, 3:18 am

So I was just browsing the internet and found an article about telling your future using a favourite book. It said that you have to hold the book while your eyes are closed and then think of a random page and random number of a line from that page...And the line hides the answer to your question. I usually don't believe in such things but I thought it would be fun to do it so I tried. I looked for more information on the internet connected to the meaning of different words or signs but unfortunately I couldn't find anything...Do you believe that such methods can really tell your future? I was curious and I tried with "The twilight saga: eclipse"...Here are some of the questions and their answers (I'm translating them from my language so there might be mistakes) ?

1. Will I take my programming exam?

"it is really sad to miss these last chances."

2.Is there a person who is in love with me?

"were speaking several metres away from them" ??

3.Do aliens exist?

"Jacob chuckled"

hahaha I would also post the pages but as I told you my book is translated so I can't.

tired- - December 9, 2014, 3:24 am

Captain obvious to the rescue:

You see, they usually make "sense" no matter what, swap the answers and questions around a bit and see for yourself.

But carry on, it's still fun to see the answers I guess.

Edit: just tried this with my own book.. The answers were quite disturbing

~Jay~ - December 9, 2014, 4:35 am

Why was the first book you could find Twilight? Did you have it in your bathroom as emergency toilet paper?

Alaric - December 9, 2014, 4:37 am

Article? More like Facebook post. ?

These things are fabricated to make sense, and fit everyone.

Same goes for horoscopes, they're vague enough for every option to fit everyone.