This bot can run 24/7 without lag on your PC and or connection problems, we offer a real DDoS service, and we have a 95% accurate GEO IP.

This bot is more than all the other bots, we currently have 42 commands and we add more every day, with some of them only accessible to premium members in the bot, you can even sell spots for money.

If you want to test it out, add me on skype.

We started the project a little earlier, well a year, with making it a 24/7 skypebot.

Now we remade it into a buyable and editable skypebot!

Sadly no, only some groups that are made in P2P, all Skype2Com groups are not supported.. This is for all skype bots not only ours.

Hello, we contacted the skype support and they said this:

Quote:There are two kinds of chats

-Peer 2 Peer

-Cloud based

The cloud based groups are the new kind of groups which are made by the new skype version (from may 2014)

Peer2Peer is the old system from before may 2014, this is not possible to make

But we found a way to still make a peer 2 peer group!

You need to old skype (Version 5.5)

PM me to get this.

Bot does not even work. Did work after paying for it but weeks later its now not working. When paying for the source code you don't get all the code that the bot uses. I asked for help via skype but no replies. The code is dodgy as someone has managed to get admin commands and broadcast saying bad things. When opening the bot it takes me to the splash screen but crashes after #11 (checking if you are a traitor) Using version 4.1.0.6.

Contact CallofCyandic for a source update.

I am not the coder of this project, please report any bugs to CallofCyandic.

For the not working part, our system works with a server to authenticate people. The server is currently down but I sadly have no access to it. I would love to fix it but I cannot.

Please be patient and wait for CallofCyandic to fix it.

You can use it in group chats, only moderated chats since Skype discontinued their API, there are some bugs, like the group chats.

Also if you want to I can add that feature for a few of the commands, tell me which one you would like

What is the difference between buying the regular bot and the source?

(Jul 5, 2015 11:28 PM)steel51 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What is the difference between buying the regular bot and the source?

The source is for people wanting to edit the bot, like the apis, add commands, change the text etc. They have full control on how they want the bot to work. Although you might want to be a vb.Net dev. Regular is just the bot .exe only

So if I would to buy regular i'd still be able to run the bot and have complete control I'd just wont be able to change/add commands and edit the bot

Yep, thats true, alto if you want to switch to source it's just $15 more (25 (source price) - 10 (already paid skypebot price))

<https://hackforums.review/skypebot-576.html>

To start things off , I just wanted to say , yes this is indeed a positive review.,
It may appear negative at certain points , but please stick with me.

SkypeBot is a beautiful program , it's one of those things you see in the marketplace that you really genuinely want.

It has a stockpile of features , literally over 150 , which is beautiful.

I started running my own Skype service using it 2 days ago , offering it for free to users who were interested.

Over 20 users have been using SkypeBot for their own personal needs which is fantastic to see , it feels good proving a service people enjoy!

SkypeBot has a Free / Premium / Ultimate feature , where users have the ability to purchase premium slots for Premium and Ultimate options.

These options include the !ddos function as well as unlimited access to any of the current 81 account generators in the !gen menu.

The default DDoS API was broken at the time I purchased it , so I went ahead and purchased my own API for 20.00$ from Layer API.

(If you want to know more about Layer API and want to see my review , check it out here!:
<https://hackforums.review/layer-api-468.html>)

The !ddos function is working flawlessly , despite some original compatibility issues , which were resolved quite quickly.

Since SkypeBot isn't responsible for how much power the API outputs , I can only comment on how responsive it is.

Literally seconds after I type out the !ddos command , my target is offline.

It's extremely responsive and SkypeBot alerts you on whether or not the attack was succesful which is fantastic.

The user interface is quite nice and easy to follow , although it did appear to be slightly laggy after it had been running for an extended period of time.

It doesn't lack any features , everything is well documented and easy to follow.

I haven't noticed any grammar issues either while I've been using it , reminding me that dedication went into creating this tool.

Now for the slightly negative part, regarding how well it works.

I had a few issues with SkypeBot not responding to me on a regular basis.

It would stop responding to anyone after a 10-20 minute time frame which completely ruined it for me at first.

We did discover a work around , unfortunately it's a bit of a pain in the butt.

Users can fix the non-responsive issue by using !creategroup and joining the group to use the bot.

SkypeBot is indeed more responsive in the group , it's just disappointing that something so great is hindered by this affliction.

Wanting to open my own premium service for interested customers , I feel unable to do so due to the fact that the responsiveness of the bot is nil when outside of the group.

Although it may seem like I'm slightly over exaggerating , I'm a bit of a perfectionist , and when I'm selling a premium service , I have to deliver that premium service.

I don't want to have to explain to paying customers why SkypeBot is ignoring them , being spammed by confused customers wasn't in the TOS.

With that said , it isn't entirely the developers fault , the library SkypeBot uses is quite outdated , it's been optimized to be compatible with current versions of skype , but there's only so much the developers can do, which I understand completely, I can't hold them responsible for something out of their control.

With the soon to be released Skype SDK , hopefully new and better functioning libraries will be released , fixing the current issue.

Everything works perfectly when the bot is responsive and the support is lovely , I've been having conversations with the developer since I purchased it and we talk on a regular basis now.

If something is giving me issues , I just message them and the issue is usually fixed within the same hour.

Verdict

SkypeBot is fantastic , there's an endless list of features available.

It's affordable too , I was offered 20.00$ within the first 3 days from curios users wanting to purchase premium.

The support is fantastic and wont let you down , I highly suggest anyone who is interested to check SkypeBot out.

It has its flaws , but it's not game-breaking , it's just a temporary set back.

Hopefully the issues will be resolved within the near future , in which case , this review will be updated

Indeed Malwarebytes blocks it as "Hacktool:SkypeBot" which is quite normal.

To stop Malwarebytes Anti-Malware version 1.75 or lower from blocking a file or program:
Open Malwarebytes Anti-Malware.
Click the Ignore List tab.
Click Add.
Navigate to the file or folder you wish to ignore.
Click the file or folder to select it, then click OK.

Or follow this website to add it as exception on +1.75:
<https://www.malwarebytes.org/support/guides/mbam/MalwareExclusions.html>

Aslo skype will block it, please update it. Contact me or ScreemS for an updated version which you did not requested.

In the next update, there will be a fix for the SkypeBot not working in Cloud group chats (the ones not created with !creategroup and /createmoderatedchat).

We are currently using our own fix and the most efficient fix because this wont ban your Skype, other people use an, in the eyes of Skype, illegal way, and we do not.

Thanks for understanding & stay tuned for further updates!

This is possibly not our bot, if it is, it won't work.

Is it possible to control the default commands that can be used?

I was hoping for access level option for specific users, example default members in the group are at level 0 and can access a few commands as an example, than level 1 users can access more commands and etc.

There is a system like that already, premium, ultimate, normal & admins are the ranks. These have default presets and can be edited in the source

O yea, because I stopped using dropbox, you might need another download link. I'll send it to you over your email.

GhostintheShock - November 11, 2015, 8:35 am

I did receive a download link after I made the payment, the bot was not working somehow. Now as you said you have sent me another, gona download it and try. will update the feedback.

Thanks.

Edit: Bot is not working , not able to run on vmware.

The download link that I had recieved after making the payment in email is having different size than the one you gave me again in the email.

Below is the screenshot.

why two different size bins? what are you trying to do ?

could you please explain.

None of the binary is working, when running it in sandbox, its just did not run.

Could you please add me on skype: les.de ? + It's because it's a newer version and another obfuscation tool.

+ Sent me the log file that has been (maybe) created, if not, download ChatterBotAPI.dll (I'll give you on skype) & put it in the same folder.

Is there also any error message or anything?

GhostintheShock - November 11, 2015, 8:55 am

There are so many les.de. which one is yours?

Please add me- mikewaals

Now the earlier(first binary) bot is executed after putting that dll. It creates a folder of settings but then again it crashed.

Thanks, les supported me via Team Viewer and eventually bot works.

Great support, great guy, good bot, do not hesitate to buy.

"SkypeBot may scan the entire memory, and any software-related and system-related files and folders on harddisk and report results to main server for the sole purpose of detecting leakers and commands."

Please, can you expand on this? It seem's, well, a bit scary to let a SkypeBot look through my files to see if I a leaker.

Don't worry about that. We only check wich programs are modifying the skypebot. If you dont feel confident about that, I'll change the EULA because its quite misleading. Just trying to scare of leakers.
