Im sure this will be useful if you have a botnet.

You get a survey locker stub, put a adfly link on the survey page then shorten the adfly link then put shitcash then coinurl then lots of that and do like 100's of them and you should get a lot of money just make sure you set it up properly because it could botkill

A survey locker is a piece of software that locks the computer and demands a passcode. Said passcode can only be obtained by completing a long and annoying survey that doesn't even work properly. The person who made the survey locker gets the money for advertising.
