Thread: Re-FUSE Theme User Controls

Dark N3BULA - December 14, 2014, 10:53 pm

Hi guys. Im releasing the some of the custom controls I created for a project im working on. Mostly checkboxes/toggle switch/button/radio type controls. Still have some issues lurking with some of these. Suggestions improvements are welcomed.

Looks interesting, but why are you having it be a form in a form? I feel like it wastes space.

aaah was just trying to do something different. Something that doesn't actually looks like the typical VB forms stuff and also make something that more responsive. Its my first application ever so really trying to keep up with the learning curve. Hope better things await in the future.

You should just release the source. Would get you back to the green if it's clean!

Thanks for the encouraging remarks mate. This really is my first ever release of anything. The GDI is only half complete and v unstable atm. Many of the talented developers on HF would vouch for me that It is a laboriously slow process and It be really embarrassing to release something half baked esp in the company of the Aeons' and the Hawks'. The encouragement on this forum has really driven me and id rather share something that im proud of rather than keep to myself. So wish me luck i guess and stay tuned ? ??

Do you have plans to release the tab control too?

gramozsins - December 18, 2014, 9:01 am would like to see this, thanks
