Thread: Does anyone have a good romance/slice of life?

Erwin Schrödinger - December 19, 2014, 9:40 am

Hello!

I'm pretty bored this evening, and I would like to watch a good slice of life & romance anime. Could you please come with some recommendations from what I have previously seen in that genre?

<https://hummingbird.me/users/Racego/library>

Thanks a lot in advance. :)

NexPB - December 19, 2014, 9:58 am

Toradora! (it's on your plan to watch list), Golden time, Nana (More of the mature romances), Gekkan Shoujo Nozaki-kun

Other recs Chihayafuru and Bakuman

Now I have something to do and look forward to towards Christmas. ^u^

Just a little side note: I always wanted to watch Gekkan Shoujo Nozaki-kun but I never knew the name. So that's great!

The ones that looked interesting to me was: Golden Time, Gakken Shoujo Nozaki-Kun and Chihayafuru, so they got added to the plan to watch list. :)

Thanks for helping me out with finding animes! Stay HQ and merry Christmas. <3

Spice and Wolf although it takes place in the medieval era. Might even put you in a christmasy feel.

I added it to the plan to watch list!

I'll probably watch it after I've seen some other ones.

Thank you for your recommendation. :D

Golden time and Toradora are made by the same writer and both have holes that the other one fills. Watch them both together and you'll have one of the best first time experiences in anime ever.

So first I watch the first episode of Toradora then the first of Golden Time and so on?
Thanks for the tip. :)

I don't think he meant one after the other, just watch both series though, one at a time. They're not sequels or prequels of each other.

Esdese - December 19, 2014, 2:28 pm

How have you not seen Sakurasou no Pet na Konojo?

It's one of the, if not the best anime in it's genre.

It's also personally my favorite anime/tied with Akame ga Kill

^ This.

They aren't but certain art elements that make TD and GT good are balanced out. It's not some ultra god like anime that's far more superior than everything else. It's more or less that the weak points and strong points of the anime is all swapped around.

Toradora wasn't as intense of a cliffhanger as GT was, but was more significant with the characters than GT. You'll know it when you see it. Just as Toradora wasn't cliffhangey enough, GT was. Toradora builds up character developement crazily, and GT doesn't that much with their side characters (sorry for spoils but it's a short anime lol). It's small literature elements that one has the other lacks etc.

Chips Ahoy McCoy - December 19, 2014, 7:50 pm

Watch Chuunibyou and The Pet Girl of Sakurasou. They're solid imo.

Agreed, Sakurasou no Pet na Konojo is one of the best and one of my favorites, also. Also there is Working!! i guess

VYKTOR - December 19, 2014, 9:46 pm

So, I just checked your list & here are some of my recommendations which I watched very recently.

- 1.Higashi no Eden (Eden of the East)
- 2.Still world is beautiful

3. My Little Monster
4. Zero no Tsukaima
5. Love, Chunibyo & Other Delusions

All of them have very good romance.
I'll now break them down for you depending on what type of romance you want.

Shoujo, School & Slice of Life, comedy, Romance ----->>> My Little Monster
Action, comedy, mystery, romance-----> Eden of the East
Supernatural, comedy, romance ----> Still world is beautiful
Action, comedy, romance----> Familiar of Zero (Zero no Tsukaima)
Comedy, School, Drama, Slice of Life----->>>> Love Chunibyo & other delusions

You can watch any of these five or all of them for Christmas & you won't be bored.

Enjoy?

Erwin Schrödinger - December 19, 2014, 10:26 pm

Thanks alot for your tips everyone! Many of the animes seemed very interesting so I decided to add them to my list! I'm overwhelmed by the good response I got! Merry Christmas everyone.

Especially a big thank you to you! <3

Have you watched Shigatsu wa kimi no osu?

Sasaki Haise - December 19, 2014, 11:43 pm

I forgot to mention, Stein's Gate really grows on you if you can make it past the first few episodes.

Is that a romance/slice of life?

It seems like a fun anime nevertheless. There should be a "Might want to watch list" since that would go right there. Haha

Thank you both. :)

Nice video with 60FPS.

I really enjoyed the art style. :)

In addition do I really like the medieval era.

Did you just upload the video? :D

Yeah I've hosted it on my website for a while but it was down for a little bit so I just mirrored it to youtube. The art style is really good indeed, the writing of the show is fantastic, you're gonna love the characters. It's pretty slow paced though, but things happen a bit faster and with more drama in season 2. If you like the medieval era aswell like me you're gonna love this show. It's also about trading and economy in the medieval era, and you get to see the good side of how people lived and how fun it is. Like, I want to live there after watching this.

Basically a story about a travelling merchant and a wolf woman that travel together. Shit happens along the way and they bond together...

Kenpachi - December 20, 2014, 6:27 pm

B Gata H Kei

Kami Nomi Zo Shiru

Is This a Zombie?

NHK ni Youkoso

My Little Monster

Not able to check your list since I'm about to go to work so I hope you find at least one or two from this little list.

Alright, the first one is definitely not for me. At least not by it's description. It seems more like hentai to be honest. Spoiler (Click to View) Yamada, first name withheld, is a 15-year-old girl who has just entered Takizawa High School. Easily considered exceptionally beautiful, she has only one problem with her own body, she thinks her vagina looks weird and is very self-conscious about it.

Upon entering high school, her dream was to have casual sex with 100 men but therein lies the problem, she believes an experienced partner will tease her about the way her vagina looks or simply the fact that she's a virgin. She stumbles upon the solution in the form of Kosuda Takashi, a fellow virgin, whom she believes will help ease the transition to more experienced partners.

There's only one small problem, Yamada doesn't know anything about sex or the ancient art of seduction, meaning her quest to conquer Kosuda will be a difficult one.

The second one isn't really my type of anime either.

I couldn't seem to find the third one, or it was an action horror movie.

The forth one however seems like a really good anime with great reviews. I added it to my list and will check it out later. <3

The same goes for My Little Monster too! It seems like a good anime, and was already it my watch list. I will watch that soon too!

Thank you for your help. ^u^

OP, seriously.

Sakurasou no Pet na Konojo should be #1 on your plan to watch list.

Best Romance animu ever made.

It's so hard to choose what to watch, so I might as well start with that.

Thank you. :)

The feels will be honestly too much to bear.

I only cried 2 times ?

Seriously though, it's fucking amazing. 10/10.

I laughed more than crying.

The cuteness is just too much.

I vouch for this.

Pet Girl of Sakuraso is among the best romcom.

Vouch, it is very funny.

Still very feels-y though. Especially the LN.

Do you want a serious romance anime?

White Album 2 (not a sequel, also one of my favorite romance dramas to date)

Read my review on it here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4206955>

Nana

True Tears

KimiKiss Pure Rouge
Anohana
ef - a tale of memories (watch this before melodies)
ef - a tale of melodies
H2O: Footprints in the Sand
Yosuga no Sora (Has twincest, be warned. I liked it though)
Myself;Yourself
Sola
Kanon (2006)
Air
Nagi no Asukara
Clannad: After Story (If you make it through this without crying, your heart is stone.)
Byousoku 5 Centimeter

Romcom:
Toradora!
Sakurasou no Pet na Kanojo
Oregairu
Denpa Onna to Seishun Otoko
Clannad

The first one has like only two nudity scenes which are basically nip slips though they're in the last few episodes. Third one isn't a movie at all http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Is_This_a_Zombie%3F
