

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Airport Wifi Security

Purist - December 19, 2014, 7:24 pm

Hello everyone,

I was wondering if any one of you knows, how to get through paying on airport Wifi. I heard about something connected with spoofing your MAC Address, however I tried it and it did not work at all. I would really appreciate your help!

Well, anyway I will look else where ;(. Thanks anyway guys!

tekniko - December 19, 2014, 8:39 pm

If you are going to spoof your MAC address you will need to know a MAC address that is already paid for. Which I am guessing you probably don't and gaining access to any airport computer, to find a working MAC, is probably going to get you arrested.

I am sure there is probably an easier way but the time involved and with security cameras everywhere, I'd recommend against it.

Kristof - December 19, 2014, 8:57 pm

If that's the case couldn't he just use airodump-ng and scan the airports bssid and use one of those macs connected from the scan?

About the cameras I doubt they are able to zoom in that close to your screen also there's blind spots in every security set up especially in airports there's a million places one could sit with there back against a wall.

Mac Mill?r - December 19, 2014, 8:59 pm

netcut should work good luck, not to sure If it works with your OS

kalwat - December 19, 2014, 9:00 pm

(Dec 19, 2014 09:57 PM)Kristof Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If that's the case couldn't he just use airodump-ng and scan the airports bssid and use one of those macs connected from the scan?

About the cameras I doubt they are able to zoom in that close to your screen also there's blind spots in every security set up especially in airports there's a million places one could sit with there back against a wall.

^ Do this. Also it is a requirement every time you're in a airport to use a shit load of deauth.

Purist - December 19, 2014, 9:12 pm

Alright thanks, guys. This has been very helpful. I will try everything when I am going to be flying!

Polarity - December 19, 2014, 9:42 pm

Never knew you had to pay to use the Airport's wifi. That's a little absurd. Hopefully you can get what you need.

bandors - December 19, 2014, 9:43 pm

I seriously suggest that you do not try to hack the airport's wifi, they have very good security watching it. You might look like a terrorist and it is very likely you will be arrested.

Purist - December 19, 2014, 10:16 pm

Thanks again, for all that information. However I will not be breaking the law, so I was just wondering if there is any way of working around the stupid hot-spot bullshit. As I had a friend try it and he said it worked. But I will not be doing it. You guys have been very helpful thanks!