Funny how you advertise as 50% commission (which is already low) and you actually give 30% commission.

Funny how it probably took around 1 day to setup this wordpress site, include adwordmedia surveys, and expect members to start making you money for nothing. So greedy.

Funny how surveys don't even work, lol

Funny how you call my website wordpress, whats even more funny is how can you call this wordpress? everyone could see this is not wordpress, i made this from scratch and i'm not done with the website, the reason you see 30% on the dashboard is because i'm not done with it.

The sign up page is pure Wordpress layout, but anyway, I might be wrong on this and maybe you just made it look like Wordpress.

But, first: why would you only payout 50% (currently 30%) to your members? You don't offer them anything. They could just sign up to AdWorkMedia and do the surveys themselves and earn 100%. You could offer at least 70% and still make a profit. That's just greedy.

second: your website if full of grammatical and spelling mistakes. At least correct those before launching. Launching with spelling mistakes makes you seem unprofessional.

I understand what you're saying. but it has nothing to do with wordpress, about the 30% you see i forgot to change it to 50% but that's only a piece of text, the actual payout of 50% and about the spelling mistakes i'm aware of this but i'm not english myself. so i'm looking at fiver for someone who can edit the text.

And i'm currently working on a script to have advertisers on my website which earn members 1 cent per viewed ad.
