Suppose Omni did go through with the plan of giving away a group for free. You managed to win a free group of your own assuming you're HQ, have no negative reputation, approved by Omni for leader and no open scam reports. What would you do with it?

Vip?r - December 22, 2014, 5:06 pm

Turn it into an official anime group or sell it.

Doctah - December 22, 2014, 5:06 pm

I'd invite me in my niggas to it and do nothing else but be exclusive assholes.

Programming - December 22, 2014, 5:07 pm

Turn it into a:

- Non gaming group
- Non marketing group
- Non hacking group
- Non buyin group
- Non art group

Then you'd have an original idea!

This is what I would do if I got it for free, if it wasn't free I need buy-ins.

webdev77 - December 22, 2014, 6:41 pm

I would make a group based around my own personal interests. I think this is a pretty easy question honestly.

Roger Waters - December 22, 2014, 6:44 pm

I'd pay for a really cool userbar and then have only five people in there for the sake of exclusivity.

Grin - December 22, 2014, 6:45 pm

An anime group would be extremely active.

Fox™ - December 22, 2014, 8:01 pm

I'd make it into something different and never been done before.

I already have a name I'd use too.

Aura - December 22, 2014, 8:09 pm

Create a Computing group based on Computing, Programming, Security (all levels) and invite every ex-MRT members in to bring back the service (I'll get killed for that).

Tomaten - December 22, 2014, 8:11 pm

I would give it to someone who actually has time to run a group.

420 Blaze It - December 22, 2014, 9:37 pm

And they'll sell it for money.

No, that would never work. What do you classify as HQ?

aguila - December 22, 2014, 9:40 pm

I would turn it into a exclusive group where I am the only member, along with a cool user bar. Mainly so I can shitpost in the groups sub forum

It would be pretty cool if there was an anime group, i'd have to agree that if i got the group i'd turn it into an anime group.

Premortal - December 22, 2014, 10:09 pm

I've got a pretty in-depth plan laid out but I'm afraid if I post it someone will steal it. I like to imagine it'd be a good group, but the chance that I'll ever find out is slim.

Ang?I - December 22, 2014, 10:14 pm

I would invite everyone on HF except Package.

Vip?r - December 22, 2014, 10:23 pm

Great idea, then you'll have more userbars then him,

Baghead - December 22, 2014, 10:54 pm

Create another graphics group

Dusk ?? - December 23, 2014, 12:21 am

I'd make a family type group, to many "original groups" trying to be exclusive. If you were laid back and enjoyable then you'd be more than welcomed in my group. Only exclusions are package and 420blaze and any other weeaboos.

I take back what I said. I wouldn't allow Package or this kid to join my group.

Paranoid? - December 23, 2014, 12:40 am

Sell spots for $100.

Sit back and watch the money come rolling in.

AJames - December 23, 2014, 12:42 am

Group with friends and own personal interests.

Erwin Schrödinger - December 23, 2014, 12:46 am

Unless you're planning to make money from the group, it is almost certain that the group will be based around a personal interest you have.

As other people has mentioned would an anime group be pretty cool.

Xepher The Cat - December 23, 2014, 12:50 am

I make anime group lads, that rule the anime adventures section ofc.

'Snorlax - December 23, 2014, 3:51 am

Turn it into a computing and coding group. I have the perfect plan, but I expect to go through with this plan sometime soon anyways.

Or just a group to chill at.

Greatest - December 23, 2014, 4:18 am do what most groups do and invite 5 ppl so everyone is dying irl so they automatically buy in no matter how dumb the price is.

Rivalry - December 23, 2014, 4:35 am

A group for creatives and creation. All art (graphics/literature/music) falls under this, so that's fbn, GM, Rhythm, and Void (a bit) covered. I'd probably try to keep it fairly small and tight-knit as a core, but then offer programmes to help the community at large in a similar vein to fbn's Student programme, but more fun and less demanding. Since the group would be free, there'd be no need for buy-ins or leadership spot selling shenanigans to make my money back, so the group would keep its integrity with tricky, selective application processes to make getting into a group an achievement again (nowadays it just seems a bit throwaway as an accolade).

Brado - December 23, 2014, 4:48 am

I would make a kind of Helpdesk group.

I will only accept people who are helping other people out.

So a nice and great group for the community.

Not for making money or whatever.

Just to help people with everything.

zSerity - December 23, 2014, 8:39 pm

I'd make a group solely dedicated to Vices.

Apostle - December 24, 2014, 3:38 am

Ofcourse you would do that you junkie

Autocorrect - December 24, 2014, 3:41 am sell it immediately and then quit HF because my epenis would have reached optimal length

Naw not even bro, it would be unique as hell.
At least I wouldn't make an HQ marketing group

Awakened - December 24, 2014, 7:02 am

Since it was a group given to me for free out of generosity, I'd pay it forward. The groups intention's would be to only do things for free and give back to the community (programming, graphics, tutoring, etc). The nice gesture he made would be the foundation and principle of the group itself :)

Cyaddd - December 24, 2014, 2:37 pm

I'd like to say "make a group that'll contribute to the forums in a positive way with giveaways like Red Lions used to be"

However knowing me, I'd just turn it into a lounge, or a subforum of a subject that captivates me.

Jake Miller - December 24, 2014, 4:05 pm

Been wanting to make something focusing on the Education Nation section or sports section.

Factørial - December 24, 2014, 4:06 pm

I'd sell it.

Omni would basically be giving away 6K+

yeah, its called studio ?
please no anime groups

Ayxi - December 30, 2014, 8:53 am

I would make a group for tutorials and educating other members. It's were people would be able to learn about anything they want, it will be a tutorial hub!

When I'm done with it, I'll probably just give it away to some other worthy user.

Lancer of Red - December 30, 2014, 11:09 pm

I'd probably make a new group solely for gaming and host in-house tournaments.

ASLR - December 30, 2014, 11:12 pm

Pretty much what aura said. A programming group that actually is active would be fun. Either that or be an asshole and make a pointless group and only allow non upgraded members to join.

Broke - December 31, 2014, 5:23 am first you have to do a bunch of buy-ins and after that you have to sell your group for big money, ez profit.

Cyrus - January 1, 2015, 11:06 pm

My group would be a lounge group.

I'd probably try to come up with ideas to make it different from other groups or hire a leader to do that. ?

Nate - January 2, 2015, 12:33 am

Have a group of just me and someone else thats it.

Enronitis - January 2, 2015, 11:09 am

Make a real business/investment group to form a network of skilled people in the hopes of completing projects together.

Ebook sellers, Ewhores wouldn't be allowed or even remotely considered.
