Uh, I think you may be on the wrong thread? This RAT's GUI doesn't look like NanoCore at all.. Well in my opinion it doesn't. By Native we mean that it requires a Windows operating system only, nothing else is required like .NET Framework or Java etc.

Should work fine with DP v2

&& No, it's impossible for ANY rat to disable webcam lights.
Every webcam has different hardware/firmware, so there's no generic way to do this.

Having loads of fun with this one. Just figured out how to set up the listening port.

Just thought I would add this for any other slow witted guys like myself.

Go to server configuration, right click on the box and add the port that you want to listen on. Then, click on the start button. That is it. All I saw was the empty box and I didn't know what to do.

Only the client will check if you have a valid license upon logging in.

Dottore - February 9, 2015, 9:02 am

Damn it this RAT seems really nice but this "feature" that checks the license is an absolute no-go. Basically I am dependent on the availability of your licensing server and you know the IP of my server (both points not acceptable for me).

Any chance to get the RAT without this license checker or with an offline license checker ??

We do not have access to the IP of your server, we only have access to your current IP to verify that your account is not stolen. The license system has never gone down unless it was for maintenance. It's not an issue. We do not plan to discontinue the servers or Prototype itself. If, for some reason that this does happen (even though I can confirm it will not), we can give you a custom build of the client that is does not rely on our servers.

My review after one week "using" Prototype:

NOTHING

i received it with four days delay. bought it last week on wednesday and received it on saturday. thats ok could happen. but since saturday i couldnt use it because of their license server. reported the problem 5 or more times (with logfile) via skype to the support and the only answer i received was "should be fixed". he ignored questions and answered like a bored bot. now after one week its enough and i appllied for a refund but he denied. thats all

You can't follow basic instructions, i asked you to send me the log files 6 times and you refuse to do that, hence your support wont exist anymore. Every other customer is happily using the software with no issues. It's not my fault you're being an ass. We do not give refunds.

Did a trillion times! Never works! -.-

I have, ProtoType RAT, IM3 & now, nanocore. It even works with the rats I made with other two RATS. Amazing. All else are shitty. And, I must say. All crypters are good but none goes thru Kaspersky Total Security, 2015. -.-

All crypters promise this, even there coders do this, personally to me. But, none works. I hvae charging back as I am not cash greedy skid. I've wasted over $100 but, I am honest and not cash greedy. Won't ever ask for refund or chargeback. M not cash greedy. It's all about honesty. All the sellers are basically cash greedy here, tbh. All pretend, theyu are soo big business men. But, no one actually is. All are driving sales but no one is actually doing really good servise support. :(

I think, HF's rat n crypters market is going to this place, via there awkward TOS. :(

I am also having this problem. Close the program and once brought back up, client is gone.

Further detail: ran in sandboxie, ClientServer (not crypted) closed prototype, pulled it back up, blank prototype.

Ran again in sandboxie (now 2 instances) and popped back up.

Still no update, Also tried remote control, just froze on me, so when I exit, I'd lose my connection to client. Pain in the arse.
