(Jan 23, 2015 06:39 PM)Fantisah Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I will do a review because I have bought the product.

GUI- 10/10

Has a smooth look, very easy to understand. Easy to navigate to each area of the site, nothing is cluttered about. Nice color scheme going on as well.

Customer Support 9.5/10

The reason I gave this a 9.5 is because the support team could do with replying a little bit quicker especially when you've paid for the product. I say quicker is because the longest reply time I had to wait for is around 9-12 minutes. Apart from this everything is perfect. They are very helpful and even go out of their way to help you set up, support and chose a package on what you have told them. Very friendly and polite to speak with.

Speed- 10/10

By speed I don't mean the overall speed of the website but the speed in which you receive the views. As soon as you click "Start" it sends them immediately. There is no hesitation when it comes to sending them. The chatter function is very good as well for speed. Now the website speed loads almost instantly (Depending on your net, I'm on 25 DI so loading time may vary) and because there isn't a whole load of fancy Java and such there isn't any need for the website to load slow.

Bot Quality- 10/10

When you have sent the bots out they stay for as long as you purchase them for, sometime giving you extra (If you're lucky) and when your package has ran out, they remain for around 10-20 minutes. In the chat they have been loaded with custom scripts to say and it seems like they are actually real people. You obviously get to control the speed on which the bots enter the stream which i also like this function as most people just send them all straight away.

Packages (Prices and Bundles)- 9/10

The higher packages seem to be a tad over priced but for the service you receive you really can't complain. The shortest time is an hour and the longest is a month. Whats good about this is you get 3 months to use the 1 Hour limit.

Overall- 10/10

Excellent quality, good staff, nice GUI and fast loading times. I wouldn't think twice to go with another service as this is the best on the market without a doubt. Vouch for gfool as he has an unbeatable product on the market. GLWS and i'll be buying from you again.

Thank you sir. And yes, followers take 2-7 days to deliver in full (more than 1k followers can take longer). We deliver slowly like this to give the most organic appearance possible on your stream. After you order, delivery will begin within 24 hours, but typically it takes <8 hours.

Chatters are working right now. Silent chatters only though (so they don't talk). Our developers are re-coding the chatters system and are working on talking functionality now.

We had full chatters (both silent and talking) for 8 or 9 months, but we scrapped the old system due to flaws and are developing this new system that will be 10 times better when it's done. You'll be able to control phrase lists right from the CP (Control Panel), as well as frequency of talking (how fast or slow they talk in your stream chat), etc. It's going to be epic when it's done :)

Chatters will say whatever you want, as you can provide your own custom phrase list which chatter lines will randomly grab from. We also have a solid default phrase list that you can use, which will blend in with almost all stream chats. Though, right now we are re-coding the chatters system. We have silent chatters working perfectly, but talking chatters are being worked on and should be back within a few days.

Nadisty - January 23, 2015, 5:39 pm

I will do a review because I have bought the product.

GUI- 10/10

Has a smooth look, very easy to understand. Easy to navigate to each area of the site, nothing is cluttered about. Nice color scheme going on as well.

Customer Support 9.5/10

The reason I gave this a 9.5 is because the support team could do with replying a little bit quicker especially when you've paid for the product. I say quicker is because the longest reply time I had to wait for is around 9-12 minutes. Apart from this everything is perfect. They are very helpful and even go out of their way to help you set up, support and chose a package on what you have told them. Very friendly and polite to speak with.

Speed- 10/10

By speed I don't mean the overall speed of the website but the speed in which you receive the views. As soon as you click "Start" it sends them immediately. There is no hesitation when it comes to sending them. The chatter function is very good as well for speed. Now the website speed loads almost instantly (Depending on your net, I'm on 25 DI so loading time may vary) and because there isn't a whole load of fancy Java and such there isn't any need for the website to load slow.

Bot Quality- 10/10

When you have sent the bots out they stay for as long as you purchase them for, sometime giving you extra (If you're lucky) and when your package has ran out, they remain for around 10-20 minutes. In the chat they have been loaded with custom scripts to say and it seems like they are actually real people. You obviously get to control the speed on which the bots enter the stream which i also like this function as most people just send them all straight away.

Packages (Prices and Bundles)- 9/10

The higher packages seem to be a tad over priced but for the service you receive you really can't complain. The shortest time is an hour and the longest is a month. Whats good about this is you get 3 months to use the 1 Hour limit.

Overall- 10/10

Excellent quality, good staff, nice GUI and fast loading times. I wouldn't think twice to go with another service as this is the best on the market without a doubt. Vouch for gfool as he has an unbeatable product on the market. GLWS and i'll be buying from you again.

GUI- 10/10

Has a smooth look, very easy to understand. Easy to navigate to each area of the site, nothing is cluttered about. Nice color scheme going on as well.

Customer Support 9.5/10

The reason I gave this a 9.5 is because the support team could do with replying a little bit quicker especially when you've paid for the product. I say quicker is because the longest reply time I had to wait for is around 9-12 minutes. Apart from this everything is perfect. They are very helpful and even go out of their way to help you set up, support and chose a package on what you have told them. Very friendly and polite to speak with.

Speed- 10/10

By speed I don't mean the overall speed of the website but the speed in which you receive the views. As soon as you click "Start" it sends them immediately. There is no hesitation when it comes to sending them. The chatter function is very good as well for speed. Now the website speed loads almost instantly (Depending on your net, I'm on 25 DI so loading time may vary) and because there isn't a whole load of fancy Java and such there isn't any need for the website to load slow.

Bot Quality- 10/10

Yes sir, you absolutely can. I'd recommend you read the CP (Control Panel) Guide if you haven't already. In the CP, you can supply (upload) your own phrase list and then just select your new phrase list in the talking chatter controls. You can have multiple phrase lists and choose which one of them you want to use at any given time, as well as control the speed at which your chatters talk in your stream chat.

If these aren't real viewers using their PC to view with their default browser you're putting your clients Twitch accounts at high risk. Twitch does monitor active viewers and will remove partnership and or deny partnership to any member which uses bot traffic. It's not good to hurt your clients if that's what you're doing.

Stop sales trashing, You have an AIO bot which boosts Twitch.tv viewers yet you come here and say that it puts them at risk. _ I run a service also and let me tell you, over the past year. - There been plenty of people who got partnered using the same type of service.

After ordering, you can either go on live chat, or you can wait for the email that will explain everything and give you the link to the CP (Control Panel). You log in to the CP web panel, and can control everything yourself... starting/stopping viewers, how long viewers take to arrive (delays), start/stop chatters (chatbots in viewer list), if the chatters talk, how fast they talk, what they say, etc etc.

Sorry you had a bad experience, but I'm guessing your email filtered this email, and you also didn't go on live chat after ordering.

Ok, i just want to share my experience.

At the beginning I was skeptical, i have a channel with 200 live viewer every day, i bought the 300 lw 10 hour pack, used it and ask twitch for partnership..... got it without problem, no1 called me botter or something, bots get in when u want, without delay or with, fully customizable, the support chat on website is... just awesome, got few questions solved nearly instant, they are friendly and nice person.

My real viewer got boosted from 200 to 400 thanks to this service i suggest you to upgrade step to step the number as i will do (now i have the 500 lw 10 hour pack)

The viewer are safe, if you use it with brain no1 will call you botter and u will be safe.

My 200 viewers was pretty active in chat, thats why i could use 300 bot without make twitch suspicious.

If you use 300 bots when you have only 4 viewers that talk in your channel well.... your fault in case of a ban.

By the way you can ask support for anything related on how boost your channel without risk.

Only if you are really dumb about it. The main things are NOT to over-boost (ie get 1k viewers from us when you have <10 human viewers), and if you are accused of boosting (or "viewbotting"), never admit to it. Deny, deny, deny.

Though, if you're smart about using the service, you won't ever be accused.

What do you mean it hasn't gone through yet? In the Client Area of our site, you should be able to see the status of your order. Does it say "Pending" or "Active"?

If you're a first time customer, I highly recommend you get on our live chat support and speak with a rep. They can help with any questions you may have.

Also, keep in mind that after you order, your viewers aren't added automatically. You will be given an account on our CP (Control Panel) web panel, where you will be able to control everything yourself, such as starting/stopping viewers, how many viewers you add or remove, how long it takes for viewers to arrive in full, starting/stopping chatters, if the chatters talk or are silent, if they do talk what they will say, and how fast they will talk, etc etc.

I got like 270 followers right now and get a couple followers per stream and am trying to get bigger. Ah, great, I'm happy to hear everything worked out.

The best way to grow a channel would be using the live viewers service, in conjunction with adding followers and channel views. Also, when you use the live viewers service, make sure you incrementally increase the amount. So, for example, if you have 25 human viewers and you buy the 100 viewer package from us, you'd want to start off using like 20 viewers. Then, each stream/day you can increase this by 10-20 viewers. This allows your viewer amount to increase with your organic growth, rather than just jumping up a huge amount in viewers over-night.

Hope this helps.

Yes sir, we do. We have as many followers as you need ? (assuming you don't need more than like 100k -- in that case I'd have to pull some accounts out of reserves)

To order more than 1k followers, add the 1k followers to your cart, and then go to your shopping cart and change the quantity to however many you want. (ie for 5k followers, change the quantity to "5")

Hope this helps.

(Mar 30, 2015 02:11 AM)Simplexitee Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Anyone been banned using this service?

Directly? No. I'll explain. First, we've been in business over 2 years now. In this time, we've seen a handful of bans (less than 0.1% of customers) and all of them were caused by one of two things:

#1 Customer showed our web panel CP (Control Panel) on their stream, which was quickly recognized and Twitch had proof they were botting, so they were banned.

#2 Customer openly admitted to using our service and/or botting, and as a result was banned.

Other than this, we never hear of customers having any issues. Keep in mind it's not like this with all services (ie our competitors). Here at StreamBoosters, we take every precaution possible to make sure our customers' streams are secure and stay "under the radar". There's a reason we're so well known and so many people loyally use our services.

Yes, but please note that we only use the Skype for sending out information like special promo codes and whatnot.

You will want to buy either 50 or 100 viewers. If you buy 100 viewers, you can use anywhere from 1-100 viewers, it's your choice. As far as the followers go, you can buy 100 followers and make a note on your order saying you only want 50 (or whatever amount you want). You can also speak to a rep on the live chat support and tell them about this, to be sure you get added the correct amount. :)

Otherwise I really hope you could look into doing stream coaching on one level or the other again.

As far as the Twitch Boosting Guide, we actually plan to have it live on the site within 24 hours. It's a killer guide -- lots of time and effort has been put into it. We're just putting the final touches on it, and then it'll be put online. ?

lita - April 10, 2015, 12:57 am

I read it in it's entirety.

A bit shallow to be brutally honest and towards the end it was just a sales pitch.

I suppose that's good for total beginners but I didn't see anything I wouldn't have seen elsewhere with self research.

"If you seek personalized advice based on the size of your channel, our 24/7 Live Chat Support is at your disposal."

When I started with you guys a custom rep said they don't do it anymore, used to do it, but not anymore.

Reckon best place to seek advice would be those that are either partnered already or have been streaming for several months.

Actually, 95%+ of the people I've spoke to that have read it since it was posted have said it was a huge help. You must understand, most people that need to read the guide are new and inexperienced. I'm guessing you have a lot more experience under your belt. Maybe we need to make an advanced guide for you :P

As far as what the live chat rep told you, they were referring to "partnership guidance/coaching". We no longer do this. But we absolutely still give advice to customers and assist them in getting the best results they can. Specifically for this, I'd highly recommend both MC and John on the live chat support. Both those guys have vast experience streaming on Twitch and knowledge of Twitch boosting.

Sorry the guide didn't offer what you wanted, though you weren't really the target audience for it. All that said, I still think there were at least a couple things within the guide that you found of value ;)

lita - April 10, 2015, 6:40 am

Yeah, suppose I expected a bit more advanced guide indeed.

I'll see if MC or John can help with some questions I might have, though I just ran out subscription, do I have to have active subscription to get pointers from them? ;p

Basically I'm just looking for general tips like how to best utilize booster, stream schedule, games I play, interacting with viewers etc etc.

The guide had few things in it, sure, mostly because it had boosting in mind.

I didn't mean it was no help whatsoever, it had few pointers but all in all I suppose - like you said - advanced guide is what I would need.

I'll be waiting, I'm happy with your services regardless. ?

Redwall - April 10, 2015, 6:43 am

Prices seem a bit too steep, but what can you expect from these type of services.

lita - April 10, 2015, 11:23 pm

Wouldn't really say steep.

Keep in mind that if you aim to make a living by streaming or even get some pocket change every month for doing that, it takes some investment - botting or not.

Nobody wants to watch a half-assed stream with choppy framerates and horrible audio.
You gotta invest in a little.

My aim is to make some pocket change by streaming first then see if I could make a living with it.
Since I started botting with this service less than month ago, I've gotten 581 legit follows and $21.66 in donations.

I consider this quite a success all things considered.
My voice isn't most charismatic, I'm not particularly great at Garry's Mod and I don't sport a face cam.

So I already have some limitations holding me down for time being but with strict schedule and determined work ethic I'm sure I can make something out of this.

Know this: success doesn't come over night.
If you're thinking "I'm gonna buy 1 week of botting for $25 and expect to make that and extra $25 back in donations" streaming isn't for you.

You need to dedicate yourself for streaming and follow the schedule.
Why some TV series such as Walking Dead or Breaking Bad are so great? Because people know they deliver every time and they air at exact same time every week.

I used to do professional wrestling in national level for few years and a trainer told me something that I believe goes well with streaming: "No matter the crowd, whether it's in bingo hall infront of few dozen people or Madison Square Garden infront of tens of thousand people, ALWAYS perform at your best level. Don't hold back, be yourself and entertain people."

The beginner's guide SB posted few days back on their site gives you good pointers to get started with streaming.

It's a really cool service. I just wish they had the option like my old bot (streambotv2) that I used since it was originally released on the valiant chaos forums. The feature basically allowed you to double click one of the chatters being used on your stream, a dialog box would pop up and you could type what you wanted it to say. Or select multiple chatters and have them say what you want. It was a really cool feature that really made the chatters appear real and make the chat feel alive. Oh well the service is still pretty cool.

I too would hope they implement something similar to this as a previous bot I used last year had the same feature.

Another thing would be instead of using a strict slider how often bots talk (30s, 60s or 120s) they should make it more natural and random.

Say you could put any second from 10 to 60 and instead of them talking at exact same second every minute for instance, it would be random between 10 and 60.

I know you use proxies for chat bots and sometimes you get lucky and there's a few second difference, but 90% of the time they do talk at exact same second every minute, e.g. 4:02:05, 4:03:05, 4:04:05 etc.

There's some room for improvement, and that's why I'm more hesitant on using their chat bot nowadays, it's too robotic.

Security might be the reason why none of these is or will be implemented, but I do hope they could find a workaround to make most legit chat bot ever. ?

If you check around, you'll see our CP (Control Panel) web panel has more features and "bells and whistles" than any other panel on the market.

Though, I like your input. This is something I've thought about before, and am already seriously considering adding. This would allow users a lot more control over their chatters.

Appreciate your input and kind words. If there's anything you need, let us know. Otherwise, keep enjoying the service ?

The CP actually already had randomization on everything, including all the chatter stuff. For example, if you add 100 viewers over 10 minutes, it comes out to a viewer every 6 seconds, but the CP doesn't do that. It actually randomizes it and you may receive 1 viewer 3 seconds after the previous one, and then 19 seconds later for the next viewer, etc. Maybe the talking chatter controls need more randomization built in though.

Our service is already very widely considered the best Twitch boosting service on the market, but we're still always looking for ways to improve things and take it "up a notch". I will consider adding more options on the Talking Chatter Controls in the CP. For example, for the "chatters' talking speed" slider, adding notches that are for highly randomized talking output, with ranges like you suggested. Also, you were definitely right about security, we're always taking that into account every time we design a new feature, etc.

Calvin Candie - April 14, 2015, 1:28 am

Yea I mean if that feature gets added you'll find me being a long timer user . It was a feature that made/broke the usage of the bot for me. Especially in a lower level viewer base when people notice the random chat from the list.

Review:

Live Viewers:

Viewers can be added in any time interval you'd like, so if you need viewers right now that can be arranged but if you're looking for a more organic look to stop Twitch from banning you that is possible as well. On top of that each package comes with free chatters which makes it almost impossible for other viewers (and Twitch) to detect. The chatters will actually have conversations and the usernames don't look fake at all. Viewers didn't seem to fluctuate much, so very HQ!

Followers:

Followers were being sent to me over the period of 5 days. They kept coming in at a slow but steady rate which is perfect as to not raise suspicion. The followers have avatars and believable names so it looks real as fuck.

Profile Views:

You can't have thousands of followers without having the profile views, so I got some of those as well. Just like the followers they came in at a slow but steady rate over the course of about 5 days. Everything still looks good and I really don't have anything to complain about.

We offer viewers by the hour (a la carte), or unlimited usage packages. By the hour, you will buy the time as you need it. Unlimited usage packages (by the week/month) allow you to use the service as much as you want for the duration.

So for instance you can get 100 viewers for an hour for $1.

We offer demos on our website. Just go on the site, then use the live chat (in the bottom right of all pages), and ask the live chat rep for a demo. :)

Somekindahacker - July 30, 2015, 1:44 am

Vouch! Bought like 360 viewers earlier today for an hour, but for some reason, my channel went to almost 1k viewers! Legit!

A question though. Are you able to do custom packages bigger than what are offered?.

One more. Chatters. They weren't sending any messages; Only sending messages that I used through custom message, but only sent through 1 account at a time. This made it look like I was viewbotting. Looks like I probably did something wrong.

I tried to use the excuse of a raid, but there was no chat going on.

Bennyrs6813 - July 30, 2015, 11:23 pm

They really need to update the speed of the chatters. One chatter per 10 seconds is really really bad.

RichPrince100 - July 31, 2015, 12:35 pm

I've gotten a ton more legit viewers. The problem is that they're either haters or trolls. Despite this, I also agree the 1 chatter per 10 seconds needs to be fixed. It makes no sense to have a hundred chatters there and only 1 chats every 10 seconds. It makes it less legit. If you could have them all chat every 10 seconds in intervals of 1 every half second or so, it would work out.

killercrak - August 1, 2015, 6:48 pm

I got like 40 legit followers today using the 100 viewer package for a few hours. Awesome service here but like other people say, the chat needs a little bit of improvement in terms of speed and available lines for chat. How can we edit chat? Thanks for the service!

bonus: You can change the target channel @ their control panel, so you can troll multiple channels.

their total capacity is from 15-25k viewers depending on day. The max i've bought at once was 14k with Mike (semi-busy day).

gfool - August 9, 2015, 10:57 pm

To answer all the comments about chatters:

I'm very seriously considering either adding a faster speed setting, or making the chatters talking speed be based on how many chatters you have (which internally means a formula for the rates). Rest assured, we'll have a "faster chatting" solution for you guys soon. Ironically though, the requests for faster chatters are 90% from HF :P Not sure what it is with wanting faster chatters and the HF community, but ok! :)

The bot is pretty dope, view bots works great. But chat function doesnt work I put it in 1 min delay and wait 1 min.. I type in Custom Line with "alpisqt test" and absolutely nothing happens, am i doing something wrong?

also just being able to change target once every 72 hours is very bad and imo should be lowered heavily. Maybe being able to change 4-5 a day or something.

Thing is, the chat delay does work, it's just that only ONE bot comments.

This is basically the only feature that really has a problem. Sure you have 500 chatters, but what's the point if only one comments every minute? That looks spammy as hell.

That doesn't make sense. Unless you're saying the graphics on your stream video itself. That would be that your stream received auto-transcoding (due to the increase of viewership from our bots) and I'm guessing your browser has your Twitch player on less than "Source" setting. In the bottom right of the video player, just select "Source" and it will be perfect.

This is a feature to allow viewers of your stream to lower the quality of your stream if they are on low bandwidth internet, etc. (It's a good thing, trust me)

Hope this helps!

(Aug 30, 2015 09:27 PM)Patriot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Has anyone every been partnered after using this service for a long time, I wonder?

Many, many people. We don't keep an exact count, but we estimate more than 1k customers now who have achieved partnership. And it doesn't take a "long time", but it does depend on what stage you are at when you start using our service. Obviously if you already have a small viewerbase, you will attain it more quickly than if you have a 0 followers/0 views channel (brand new).

But ya, we regularly hear of customers achieving partnership, letting us know and thanking us, etc. Though most continue to use the service, because once you get a little established, the service pays for itself. The increase in donations and ad revenue (Twitch partnership revenue) is more than the service costs in all cases.

You can read 3rd party reviews online, as well as in this thread here. Hope this helps!

All our proxies are private, our control panel gives 125% of live views, so you always receive at least what you paid for, typically 20-25% extra, 24/7 live chat support.. We provide a higher quality service and subsequently our costs, and prices, are higher. We don't have mass follower bannings, because we don't cut corners on our methods. There's a reason that the top streamers use us. As they say, you get what you pay for..

I found the chat transcript between you and our live chat representative. Unfortunately, he erroneously gave you the address to our staff email which is not an email that I monitor. I have your email now, so you can expect an email from me sometime tomorrow.

That said, according to my records, you last used our control panel two weeks prior to the date that SocialBlade.com last shows stats for your channel. There's really no way for Twitch to prove that a streamer is botting unless the steamer actually shows our control panel on stream. And it doesn't make sense that Twitch would wait a full two weeks to ban someone for using an extremely small number of bots.

If you could forward a copy of Twitch's email to the email address that the staff member gave you, I would appreciate it. It might shed some light on why you were banned and I can then see what I can do to assist you.

Personally, I don't believe that your channel was banned for using a very small number of bots. We have customers that use 1k+ bots, for over a year, and never have any trouble. I've had a handful of customers that have emailed me claiming that our service got them banned, but on further discussion, they've admitted that the ban was for another reason.

You said that Twitch did not send you an email after banning you? Did you email Twitch to find out why you were banned? Are you just assuming that it was our bots? As I said previously, there was a two week period between the time you used our services and your channel ban. In my experience, if Twitch bans a channel, for whatever reason, they do it immediately, not two weeks later...

His site still works for me the views and such, but the support email is a dead end.

Totally down for a vouch license if you have. I've purchased the standalone items and can already vouch for their authenticity, speed, and helpfulness!

Just bought 100+ viewers for an hour for a friend. They didn't get the viewers. I've used this service in the past years idk what happened.

Probably not, read through that latest replies.
Also they are blocking proxies if i am correct, read something about it.

Has anybody tried this in the past few weeks and if so does it still work?

Clickster - October 10, 2018, 4:04 am

I'll have to keep this in mind.
