Seems good. Would be better if there was video proof of some of the features working? And why MSN spreading? I thought MSN Messenger was completely shut down..

JackofSpades707 - December 28, 2014, 12:28 am

So with P2P spreading will this spread via torrents & Tor & direct file exchanges ect?

I'd love this if it supports Utorrent Automatic spreading. Limewire is dead and I've never heard of emule :/

Also tried the free version, and all that happens when i try to build the worm is :

I have bought this worm yesterday. I have been trying for 2 hours to get it to work. In all different kind of ways. With a crypted server in the download without, uploading to dropbox, ge.tt and nothing worked. The worm just doesn't download the server. I have been talking to the seller on skype and he also told me some other things I could try, but also nothing.

Now today he came online again and tried to help me via teamviewer. but even he could not get the worm to work. I kindly asked him for a refund, since the tool hasn't worked even one time at my pc, but that was a no. So be careful when you buy this worm.

Since it has some issues.

When you bought Inferno W0RM you clearly agreed and accepted TOS of my tool where i say no refunds, im sorry it doesn't work for you but i even offered you free support that isn't included in any package. I highly recommend to try the lite version before buy the premium to avoid troubles like this one

WorkinRoundDaClock - January 5, 2015, 6:34 am

I have read the ToS and I rather not getting this refund, but when I am buying a program from a seller who promotes a working program. Then I also want to get a working program. It sure works for others, but it doesn't for me so... And I just try to warn other people, so the same won't happen to them.

And... To try the lite version first because your worm is unstable wasn't in your TOS.
