Hey guys I would love to see other members rides here on the forum.

Post pics/videos of your ride.

If you have taken your cars past 100, feel free to tell us how it went, or how fast you drove.

I will start first.

I have a Cadillac CTS that I have had for a little over 1 year. in this time period I had a engine rebuild done, due to how I was driving the car, I got the car up to 145 on my other engine. and I actually had a picture, but my phone got stolen and I lost the picture, turned off one drive cloud on my windows phone :(

Im sure you can get some mods on the Honda cars to get them on the 120-140 mph area :D

Get a turbo in it :P

You sound so ignorant.

First off you can't just slap a fucking turbo into a honda.

You'll need some other upgrades as well before you turbo charge it.

I would sell it first and buy an acura tsx then go from there

I know it does not only takes a turbo, but there was no need to go through a lengthy upgrade scenario when hes not upgrading his Honda. it was just a comment.

EvilMorty - December 28, 2014, 11:41 am

Since I'm as Jewish as can be and I hate paying full price for anything. I bought a 98 Nissan Altima for $600.

Had to replace practically everything since it was a junkyard car. (Still is).

Banged up and as ghetto looking as it can get.

I get pulled over a lot when I drive at night because I look like someone who is "Trafficking Drugs". It gets pretty annoying.

Why don't I buy a new car? Well, I get 21 city/28 hwy, insurance for full coverage is $176/month, takes cheap fuel, and it drives just fine.

If I am going to buy a new car though. I'm considering a Tesla Model S. I could lease one right now but I want to actually OWN it.

<http://www.cadillac.com/cts-sport-sedan.html> only $20k difference, which is pretty standard difference between the base model of a car, and the top end.

I guess you're right. I don't mean compare it to a CTS-V lol. How does it compare to other cars in its class? I guess that would be cars like BMW 530i or Mercedes e-class.

@OP was going 140 kmh = 90 mph blasting into the town.

P.S. You can see the city radar blink 140kmh at around 4 seconds in the video.

P.P.S. Was driving about 2 years ago so..

Mine is the v6, cloned to look like the cts-v runs high 14s in the quarter mile and topped it out at 147 about 6 months ago.

The 1st gen cts-v will run low 13s and 2nd gen cts-v will run low 12s.

(Jan 4, 2015 08:26 PM)Super Saiyan God Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That wasn't my point moron . Op is acting like 10k is a lot of money . Which it's not 10K is not really much money at all.

Now if your just have 10k with no bills to pay and use it to go party and blow money away then yes 10k is alot.

looks faster than 90 haha... I Had videos when I used to push the car to 125-130 and the time I topped it out at 147 I only took a picture.

It's 90 mph so it's like 140kmh and that's when I go into the city. Got a picture taken by a radar but didn't have to pay anything since the radar was improperly placed . ?

Right now I'm between cars as I buy and sell them for shits and giggles. A few months ago I had a modded up Mustang GT, procharged with a build 4.6 and some other goodies, on my test drive I had it up around 140, though as speedometers get to such speeds they aren't perfect, and I didn't have a better gauge, so I would give or take a couple mph.
