I know I'm not the only here this happens to sometimes. C'mon, share an interesting story of an encounter between you and your bot. :) #storytime

I mean, I'm friends with Siri if that counts? She's always been there for me. Not sure what I would do without her.

If we are talking about bots or slaves then I might aswell share,

One time I ratted this guy dumb as fuck and pretended to be Microsoft support on the live chat thing and he actually believed me, it was a good 3 hours of "Troubleshooting" his computer cause it had a "Virus ;)".

One time I convinced a kid I was his computer using text to speech and listening to his microphone... Good times.

Lmao. Microsoft wouldn't be that helpful to automatically open a chat window on your pc :/

Omg top fucking kek. Laughed my ass off reading this. Love you Trisomy.

Are you talking about slaves in a botnet?

Troja?Hors? - December 29, 2014, 11:49 pm

Hello,

It is weird I saw this, I am talking with a guy I originally ratted, and he is a pretty chilled out guy.. Glad I removed him from my rat.. He didn't even get mad either when he figured out what had happened, he just thought it was awesome:)

Thanks for reading,

TH.

Once i was streaming my bot's desktop ... i saw he was tying to setup AndroRAT

Felt pity cause there were no connections ...

Contacted him through Chat in DC ...

Became friends ...

And set his RAT up for free...

Now we are friends...
