Trojan Horses is the sht  - IRONY -.-

So i have 2 scanners that i use to scan before doing anything Kaspersky and Malware Bytes and every single file i look at HF and it seems legit with so many vouchers and so many people saying that is good and they have well known reputations.. I always end up with a trojan in my machine i just got emisoft and it detected more 2 trojans, i mean camon do you really need to spread that crap in here you have so many places to do it .

- At this point everything from here goes straight to VMW , just letting some people here to know dont trust in this shittty people they want u fuked now they re organised and in groups to make it legit

Ps: Anytime someone says dont scan at virustotal , you must scan it just an advise.

Just some of the great names they gave to their files : Acunetix 9.0 , Hack Foruns licensed.exe (pro free crypt)

How about you stop downloading shit and actually start coding your own scripts.

With that logic why do you eat when there are people that dont have food?

That didn't make any sence at all.

Do you mean.. Why make food when walmart already has food.

You would make your own food because it is a trusted source and will teach you how to live independently without outsourcing..

Exacly thats the point no logic at all , probably cause there are people more capable of doing better food with better ingridients than me its very simple to get it. Following your idealism why do you use others OS make your own , why do you use hardware from other companies make your own i mean dude cmon.
