Thread: Section Rules and FAQ

Raptor. - January 2, 2015, 7:15 pm

This section is for the discussion of League of Legends, its eSports following, and any scripting/bots related to League of Legends. A few simple rules must be followed within this section.

Rules

Do not post any marketplace threads here - post them in the relevant marketplace section thanks.

Post all appraisal threads in the appraisal section, rather than here.

Do not flame/troll within the section - this isn't 4chan

Similar to the above rule, post constructive criticism for poor builds, rather than just abusing the poster.

See if a thread in regards to a major issue/bug has already been posted prior to posting another.

Do not copy/paste information or posts from other websites unless citing it, in which case a source should be provided.

Try to ensure your threads encourage discussion.

Do not beg for free boosting/referrals/skin codes/Riot Points.

FAQ

Q. Can I purchase a sticky in this section for my Referral/Boosting/Item shop?

A. Yes you can! A sticky costs $20/week.

Q. Where can I find players from my region to play with?

A. You can find them here :)

Q. How can I get a Korean account?

A. You need to be a Korean citizen, as Korea has laws restricting internet use and gaming for foreign users.

Q. Can I get banned for scripting?

A. The use of any scripts is completely at your own risk.

If you have anything else you'd like me to add to this thread, PM me or post.

Can you add a rule that states that begging for codes/accounts and such are not allowed?

Whenever PAX comes around, the section is filled with beggars with 3 posts that just joined.

I've added it to the rules. Thanks guys.

Wait China and Korea both use Garena? I thought they had their own client.

They do, but from memory they're both Garena-based. Garena offers services to most of Asia.

Play Boy - January 2, 2015, 8:28 pm

That's interesting concerning the Korean and Chinese accounts. I didn't know about that.

Thanks for the heads up on the rules and such.

(Jan 2, 2015 08:15 PM)Raptor. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Q. How can I get a Korean account?

A. You need to be a Korean citizen, as both Chinese and Korean servers are using Garena, which requires their equivalent of a Social Security Number to actually create an account.

That's not true.

Korea has laws that are dedicated to the internet and online gaming that's why Riot made a special server for them.

Only the CH (and several otehr asian countries) use garena.

I was under the impression they still utilised Garena infrastructure. I'll modify the OP then.

According to Wikipedia they serve Singapore, Malaysia, Philippines, Taiwan, Vietnam, Thailand, Indonesia.

I read that too, but they serve China as well, so I assume that's incorrect/outdated.

Tali'Zorah - January 3, 2015, 12:18 am

Are these two threads you made going to be permanent?

Also, for the rules, I kinda feel like it should be noted that when a new champ comes out we don't need 10 threads on it. I know you said none for a bug but should include when new champs/skins come out as well.

Just a thought .-.

Hopefully it will be stick'd soon so everyone is aware of the rules in this section. Glad that we have a mod in this section to control a lot of useless junk and begging.

Jeremy Mckinnon - January 4, 2015, 7:23 pm

the Korean gaming law is because of this by the way:

"the Korean government banned anyone aged under 18 from playing games online between midnight and 8 am.[19]"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Video_gaming_in_South_Korea

Just need to prove you're over 18, it has nothing to do with being foreign or not.

yes, but you need a korean SSN to sign up to prove it, so.

This. It's more than just the age thing. I watched a documentary on it once, I can't recall their exact reasons but Korea is just sketchy in general when it comes to internet gaming. They take it so seriously.

I could move their as a foreigner and get one straight away though, it's literally just used to keep track of who's under 18 and who isn't because it's the easiest way to do it.

gr8 but I dont think anyone wants to immigrate to Korea just to be able to play on Korean servers i would like to ask if it is possible to stick a thread that is selling lol account to the lol section? or we can only do it on the nfa section?

babydrago - January 18, 2015, 1:03 am

Hello,

I would like to suggest the following rule.

-People should always mention their servers (NA, EUW, KR etc.)

I've observed this over 8 months and it's annoying to never know the essential of a person who wants to queue with others.

Thank you!

Yep.

Prefixes would be helpful in many situations, so maybe Raptor should suggest it to Omniscient or whoever goes over this.

lol accounts are considered nfa accounts from what i learned thus they have to be on the nfa section and not the league section even if they are stickies. i have an account shop and can not stick it to the lol section apparently for this reason. that is why i ask.

Last I checked you needed to be an Ub3r to create a thread to sell League accounts, as they are supposed to go in the non free accounts section.

Raptor. - July 11, 2015, 6:02 pm

The begging threads aren't really rule breaking most of the time. It's annoying as fuck, I agree, and if they cross the line, I do, but sometimes I just can't.

That means i cant try to sell LoL account here?You can not sell a LoL account in this subforum, they are sold in the secondary sellers section. However I do not remember if you have to be l33t/ub3r in order to sell them.

Edit: Actually LoL accounts might count at NFA accounts which means you'd need to be ub3r in order to sell them.

Edit 2: I actually see them being sold in NFA and Secondary Sellers Section, I don't know anymore.
