Doodlebob™ - January 5, 2015, 7:34 pm

Thanks Optimized, I'd love to get a chance at this. Are we supposed to post why we should receive the tutoring, or will the choice be random?

If we should post why we should receive the tutoring, here is my reasonings:

Spoiler (Click to View) Well, not to cry about my life or anything, but my family is going through hard times so I want to make some money to give back to my Mom. Both my Dad and my Brother got locked up a few months back, so now my Mom is on her own to take care and pay for 5 kids that currently live in the house. Rent is $1350 a month, and we can barely make it each month, so I try to make money by E-Whoring and just selling anything possible online, and I usually just give it all to my Mom (unless rent was just paid and she won't need any for another month, then I use it on myself :P). So anyway, hopefully this could help me/my Mom out. Thanks again Optimized!

I've successfully experimented with the darker side of ewhoring for a while, but I'd like to get out of it and really give my all to something new. I know you don't know me as I'm not terribly active here, but I've seen your posts and I can tell you have an immense progress behind your success. Literally read all of your posts in a few hours to get some insight and now just stumbled upon this thread.

I don't know if you're going to pick randomly or make a decision based on reason and logic, but here's a reason why your wisdom wouldn't go to waste. I have a crazy work ethic and I have no parents I have to 'respond to' like most people, so I got all the time in the world and no limits. If I see someone who's knowledgeable in a field I'm interested in, I STFU and listen and thoroughly test things with an open mind.

TL;DR I'm not gonna waste your time. I'm not going to bore you with my poor life story either, just say that I would greatly appreciate your mentoring and would benefit from it a lot. I'm also willing to share with you what I learned if you're interested in that
