?is it possible to hack or get into an outlook account?

Obviously. You get into your outlook account every day by entering your email and password.

You can't hack any outlook account, they are protected by a sort of magic shield, but I heard that the pope is trying to create a portal that will teleport our hacks to their server. So we are waiting...

I also heard that keyloggers could bypass the magic shield and give you users credentials, you can try that...

For fucksake stop with the sarcasm it's annoying as fuck, it doesn't prove that your more intelligent then anyone it makes you look really ignorant and annoying. OP Just like Beladonis said, "You can use a keylogger", or you could use a stealer/rat to get access to the password, however it would require time and patience. Also a reverse proxy wouldn't hurt.

Maybe they shouldn't ask stupid questions like this if they don't want to be treated like a kid
