Thread: Ethical Hacker? Are you an Ethical Hacker

AruCard - January 5, 2015, 8:04 pm

So today i will be giving you some information on ethical hackers. This will not going to be a big thread just giving the new hackers some information on Ethical hacking.

Lets get started!

What is an Ethical hacker

An ethical hacker is a computer and networking expert who attempts to find exploits in a computer system or network with the owners permission of finding security Flaws before other hackers find the exploits

What are Ethical hackers classified as

An Ethical hacker is classified as a white hat hacker, due to the fact that they do not do harm to any exploits they find. They simply report them to the Owner and go from there.

How to become an ethical hacker

Here is an article i found on becoming an Ethical hacker if you are interested in becoming an ethical hacker please click HERE You will have to have a degree but you will see it is listed in the article

Is becoming an ethical hacker worth it

Yes, you want to hack legally? Well then this is you!

How much do ethical hackers make? The average payout to a Certified Ethical Hacker is $71,331 per annum. The salary ranges from $24,760 to $111,502, with a bonus payout between $0.00 and $17,500. Thus the total salary is approximately between $24,760 – $132,322. Obviously this is well-known, but still a good overview.

I'd like to know why it's called "ethical" instead of "legal" hacking. It clearly means legal hacking, but the two words don't mean the same. They overlap a fair bit. But only intellectually lazy people use "legal" as a synonym "ethical".

In this technical context where accuracy is everything, it's strange to have an inaccurate name for the whole profession. But when it comes to describing the actual work, it always comes down to merely legal activities.

Dump the malware, how persistence was achieved and location and provide a timeline.

This could be a good way to showcase your skills, I already know how to do this but once again showcase to prospective clients your skills.

Certified excellent question! We would need their certificate number and candidate name, very common to check on credentials seeing that this is a business.. right?
