Thread: [Amazing Anti-Bullying Video \[Serious Thread\]](#)

B?ng - January 8, 2015, 1:21 pm

This video is rather old and a few people here may of seen it but I think I should share it here to show more people.

The first time I saw this i was playing Garry's mod and one kid had it on a tv on the server I was on and no one skipped it because it was that powerful.

His voice REALLY reminds me of Macklemore.

Sounds just like him in a few of his songs that they don't play on the radio.

Very good share OP.

His voice bloody annoyed me had to stop watching two mins in. However, I get the idea behind the video and its pretty good :)

Optimized - January 8, 2015, 1:38 pm

Omg, I can't even finish it. It's sad.

Seabee - January 8, 2015, 1:42 pm

This guy sounds just like Macklemore. What a great fucking video though.

Flopper - January 8, 2015, 1:44 pm

This was absolutely amazing, the words inside of this video is very powerful. Thank you OP for posting this.

pebsi - January 8, 2015, 2:00 pm

This video really got to me, it was extremely relatable.

I honestly wouldn't want something like this to happen to anyone else, but it always does and anything we do to change it, either works or fails miserably.

Ravent - January 8, 2015, 2:10 pm

Awesome video, but this make me cry when remmember horrible times of my life....

Never really thought he sounded like Macklemore but I guess lol

Alycia Debnam Carey - January 8, 2015, 2:43 pm

The voice of the guy telling the story of the kid, is just giving it the final push, So sad video..

holy shit a bunch of pussies on hf did none of you have a good life lmfao

Onionboys - January 8, 2015, 4:19 pm

We had an assembly today about cyber bullying

B?ng - January 9, 2015, 11:15 am

Due to amount of positive responses to this vid ing :)

tittboi - January 9, 2015, 11:25 am

Shane is just being a little fucking bitch. If he didn't act like a beta faggot so much people would have wanted to be around him more but instead he decided to live down this one stupid fucking event from his retarded childhood and blow it up into this big thing that never ends like get the fuck over it bruh get the fuck over it and learn to be a fun person the end.

Just my honest opinion. I find things in school aren't that bad and some kids are just drama queens about it. Everybody goes through some shit in life and some people come out of it a better more enhanced person and some people throw a fit about it and never let it go.

Trust - January 9, 2015, 11:27 am

I'll watch it when I get home.

Also, you do realize that there is a subforum just for videos, right?

NarwhalTusks - January 9, 2015, 11:29 am

I've seen this before and it is a powerful piece of writing. Honestly completely amazing. Made me go out and get Shane Koyczan's poetry albums.

Mr?? - January 9, 2015, 11:33 am

They actually played this at my school and it was a fan favorite

King Louis XIX - January 9, 2015, 11:38 am

This is not the first time I seen this video.

Back when I first seen it, we were in Grade 8 science class, with a teacher who cared about us dearly.

It was anti bullying week, and the first thing we do is watch this video. i look to my left and this girl is squirming in her chair. To be honest I had a crush on her at the time, thought she was perfect. She would be the happiest person in the room, greeting you as you walked past her, but not just to me, to everyone.

At the part in the video where it shows the person crawling, he is talking about depression at the time (right before the first aid kit comes on screen) she starts to cry, and cries silently until the end of the video, when the lights came on there was makeup running down her face.

A guy across the room sees her and yells "Hey * why are you crying, you are the happiest person here!"

People laugh, the teacher quiets them down, asks her what was wrong and silently she pulls up her sleeve, showing cuts from a razor, bruises from being hit, and pinch marks.

this video makes me cry because of what she said before leaving the class, to the guy who called her out

"Sometimes the people who smile the most are wearing the biggest mask."

The animation in the video was so flawless and amazing. Fucking great.

The topic though, i don't see how people can allow themselves to be bullied on this level.

Kingstonz - January 9, 2015, 11:53 am

I watched it twice and i am speechless :(it sucks that people have to act like this.

The topic though, i don't see how people can allow themselves to be bullied on this level. It's not like they are able to wake up one day and just say "i'm not going to be bullied anymore" Bullying is something that only time can stop. No matter how many fights you get in, no matter how much you ignore, it doesn't simply stop. The best someone can do is to keep going forward and hope for the day that it finally does stop.

The topic though, i don't see how people can allow themselves to be bullied on this level. Because nobody ever allows themselves to be bullied. Nobody ever makes that choice. It's made for them by people who don't or won't see the effect that they're having, and it disgusts me.

Amazing share OP.

I beg to differ on that actually, I was never bullied but a friend of mine woke up one day, made a post on FB saying "today is the end of it" and LITERALLY FUCKED UP THE PEOPLE BULLYING HIM

Beating up a bully doesn't do shit. It just makes them now the agressor. And even if it did work for him 99% of the time that doesn't work and just enrages the bully more leading to more fighting.

NicoVice - January 9, 2015, 2:06 pm

I agree with this very much.

Nobody EVER deserves to be bullied, ever.
Everyone is fine just the way they are and should not be treated badly.

i have to say sorry all the time i can't take the feeling of being an asshole to someone who might be going through a lot of shit, i'm stopping though, i think of this video a lot.

its still good that you apologize, many people don't.

killerxknight - January 12, 2015, 11:42 pm

Wow this was a very powerful video, made me sad just by watching this I'm close to crying because of this video it's so touching.

iGnite - January 12, 2015, 11:52 pm

I'm bawling my eyes out. I can't handle shit I can relate to. I was bullied hardcore most of my childhood. No parents, no friends. This was really powerful OP. He touched on a lot of good points.

I have social issues now, and enjoy the torment of living things.

Ayxi - January 13, 2015, 4:11 pm

That's a nice video he made, it's sick how much bullying is out there today.

Wired? - January 13, 2015, 7:30 pm

I've seen this video before, not sure how I came across it but the first time I watched it I teared up a little bit. I can relate to it a lot, not physical bullying, but emotional.

And all the people on this thread, and life in general that say things like "smh a bunch of pussies, get over it, handle it like a man", shut the fuck up. I don't give a fuck who you think you are, you can't speak until you are in their shoes. You are just saying that to make people think you are tough or think that you don't have emotions, but trust me you do, and you know that you do as well. Infact, you are probably just hiding behind your words because you have been hurt before as well.

Just my two cents because it really pisses me off when I see people acting like that.

Sumix - January 14, 2015, 1:50 pm

They showed this to us at school one time I think.

B?ng - January 14, 2015, 3:37 pm

Just found out that this thread got the attention of the HF News team, its nice to see people appreciating this video, it is really amazing :)

Kontrol - January 14, 2015, 3:58 pm

It's upsetting that bullying is still a massive part of our culture, I wish people could just follow the golden rule of do onto others as you wish done onto yourself.

Belphegor - January 15, 2015, 2:51 am this voice and background music sounds like a song of macklemore and it fit the video perfectly i can't say much about because people are just cruel no matter what

D_rkAn9el - January 15, 2015, 7:07 am

My best friends always tease me about my looks and stuff. But I'm a very positive person, and I think they are just having fun with me lol

Pieced - January 15, 2015, 11:19 am

Great video! Fortunately I was never bullied but I stood by many that were. People look at others flaws and make fun of their imperfections, but flaws are what make perfection. The true flaw is your own and before you can accept others, you have to accept your own.

Respect yourself, respect others.

SithLee - January 15, 2015, 11:34 am

That was so sad, I cried a lil bit.

Choppaa - January 15, 2015, 11:57 am very hearth touching, this made me think about everything! :(

Bontoxilysin - January 15, 2015, 11:59 am

This is extremely funny because everyone who is bullied are completely butthurt about it and everyone who is/doesn't give a fuck goes the fuck on and ignores it. Not surprised to see nerds agreeing with this..

tldr; gay video, gay op, incoming neg.
