

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Calling people out in a post/thread?

Pernille - January 9, 2015, 10:43 am

Would that be allowed. If I wanted to call somebody out for something that I disagree with or maybe even if they have terrorist mentality would that be acceptable on these forums? Somewhere in General Discussions, maybe the lounge or SRPP.

Deany - January 9, 2015, 10:44 am

I wouldn't. It would be considered flaming IMO. Just play it cool.

ObiWanKanBlowMe - January 9, 2015, 10:45 am

It's called you whining because someone said something you don't like. You'll plenty of ass holes in your life, don't let this 1 slow you down.

Pernille - January 9, 2015, 10:48 am

(Jan 9, 2015 11:44 AM)Japanese Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I wouldn't. It would be considered flaming IMO. Just play it cool.

What if somebody said, "I think all Atheists should be beheaded, deported, in jail or in labour camps", and I made a thread quoting him/her and saying "Shame on you"?

Roger Waters - January 9, 2015, 10:49 am

You are not allowed to Flame, Threat, or Harass other members. If you have a problem with another user then just put them on your ignore list.