Thread: How do you think the world will end?

Zealot - January 9, 2015, 2:49 pm

I was just reading this

<http://io9.com/7-global-apocalypse-scenarios-that-might-really-happen-1599781413>

It talks about scientifically possible ways the world could end. What do you guys think? I'd want a Zombie Apocalypse of course ;) it probably wouldn't be as fun as I think though.

Mr. Christmas - January 9, 2015, 2:50 pm

Nuclear fall out. The world has been around way too long to end of a natural cause. We the people will ruin it ourselves. Just my guess.

Infinity - January 9, 2015, 2:51 pm

I believe it will be a disease or something of the sort that just kills everything off.
Then eventually an asteroid or something will destroy the planet.

Shockley - January 9, 2015, 2:51 pm

not sure but hopefully it's soon hence my usertitle

Normad - January 9, 2015, 2:52 pm

I believe the 'world' will end as soon as we run out of resources. Disease is unlikely and nuclear war is a possibly.

JohnTravolta3242 - January 9, 2015, 2:52 pm

It will end with the collapse of the human race - we are the most dangerous threat to ourselves. Most likely a global depression and the east will form one massive faction to combat the west.

Why spend your life waiting for it to end, when you could be the reason it ends? I support you learning to modify a virus hint Rabies cough cough.

ZuGgY - January 9, 2015, 2:53 pm

I'm thinking a nuclear war in the future. But who knows?

NigerianKing - January 9, 2015, 2:53 pm

Zombie apocalypse would be the best way:)

-Chase - January 9, 2015, 2:55 pm

Well i think it will be ended by the rapture (Im religious). Not necessarily will it end then, but 7 years after that. Anyway.

Either a Neuclear war or some awful disease ?

Exactly this, it starts with the sun rising from the opposite side.

SysAdmin - January 9, 2015, 3:00 pm

Some kind of nuclear disaster. Possibly wiped out with Nuclear Attacks, as the article says, those who won't be killed by heat & blast won't survive the Nuclear Winter that would come.

Shockley - January 9, 2015, 3:01 pm

ok since everyone is spewing religion bullshit i personally believe that Heaven's Gate is the real religion and that soon we all must suicide so we can be taken on a UFO and depart from our vehicles and if you don't leave there will never be a time to leave again, so if you don't kill yourself the world will basically end for us

that's pretty much how you all sound

Tech - January 9, 2015, 3:01 pm

I think we will run out of resources. Seems like that could happen within the next 200+ years

codedinstrument - January 9, 2015, 3:53 pm

A nuclear war. If 100 nuclear bombs were to go off they can create a nuclear winter which will produce lowest temperatures for 1,000 years and would likely eliminate majority of human population.

No Mates - January 9, 2015, 3:58 pm

I'd say nuclear weapons would play a large role in it, I didn't think we would have lasted this long without another world war with all the conflicts going on

Mr. Raven - January 9, 2015, 4:04 pm

Bacteria grows stronger, and super bugs may evolve to be out of control. We could possibly be wiped out by this, even with our medical technology.

Travs - January 9, 2015, 4:05 pm

PROBABLY SMOTHERING VIA UR MUMS LARGE KNOCKERS ?

ObiWanKanBlowMe - January 9, 2015, 4:08 pm

The sun. All stars eventually explode, just like ours. But during that process they expand, so our planet will simply burn and crumble away because it'll be too hot.

Poorly worded but the truth. Look it up.

Adium - January 9, 2015, 4:09 pm

I'd imagine it will be due to mutually assured destruction or technological advancement.

100 years ago splitting an atom was thought of as impossible, we can now develop nuclear weaponry capable of destroying cities, how long until we make something capable of destroying the entire planet? How long will it be until we can feasibly create a home made atomic bomb?

Vanilja - January 9, 2015, 4:10 pm

Nuclear war.

Sun dies.

Aliens come=??=

Hhuss - January 9, 2015, 4:18 pm

We are going to get nuked most likely but who knows?

WinCtrl - January 9, 2015, 5:42 pm

i dont think so, the world will be fine till we die

Kenjataimu - January 9, 2015, 5:46 pm

Probably through space material like the article said.

If not that then I believe the human race will carry on for many many years.

Crazy - January 9, 2015, 6:39 pm

It's just sad how many people believe that fairy tail.

Impaired_ - January 9, 2015, 8:25 pm

The interwebz, the interwebz will consume us all.

Nah but for real probably overpopulation, anarchy, famine, disease, along with a few nuclear holocausts thrown in the mix.

Radar7 - January 9, 2015, 8:27 pm

I feel it will be similar to the ending of Terminator 3

Cyrus - January 13, 2015, 4:10 am

Something caused by humans. ?

MeIT3d - January 13, 2015, 4:16 am

Definitely a nuclear war or some shit. Zambies are impossibru. And if it does happen, all you gotta do is hide under your blanket.

Grey - January 13, 2015, 4:16 am

Eventually there will be a country a little more crazy than North Korea, that doesn't care about the consequences of a nuclear war.

Tahh - January 13, 2015, 4:58 am

I think we are going to die because of global warming.

Mutiny - January 13, 2015, 6:46 am

Ayxi - January 13, 2015, 5:04 pm

The sun will one day give out, doesn't matter if humans are here or not.

Nine - January 13, 2015, 5:26 pm

Not sure. Maybe by some big natural disaster I guess.

Die Jude - January 13, 2015, 5:27 pm

Wheezy Gang - January 13, 2015, 5:51 pm

I'd want a zombie apocalypse just so I can pretty much do whatever the fuck I want, however the death part would be horrible. I'd rather just the Earth get sucked into a black hole, interesting sight to see, death would be quick and instant.

~Jay~ - January 13, 2015, 6:15 pm

It's all fun and games until you end up as one of the zombies, man.

Wired? - January 13, 2015, 6:23 pm

From a serious standpoint, I think we will blow ourselves up before something natural occurs, because humans aren't a very intelligent species.

From a gamer standpoint, I want a zombie apocalypse. I think it is every gamer's dream for this to happen. Even though in reality it's not going to be like the games.

ramiz123 - January 13, 2015, 6:25 pm

The world will end when HackForums officially closes.

Play Boy - January 13, 2015, 6:27 pm

I'd enjoy a zombie apocalypse ending. Somewhere deep down, I've always wanted to see one happen. Although from a more logical standpoint, I believe the world will end by a natural disaster. A meteor crashing into Earth or the sun going out and freezing everybody.

Chance The Rapper™ - January 13, 2015, 9:32 pm

I think the world will end due to a pandemic because a lot of people are germ freaks these days and so our immune systems have been reduced to shit.

Kontrol - January 13, 2015, 9:33 pm

I think its going to end from either, a massive outbreak disease related or from a nuclear war.

Nostril - January 13, 2015, 9:36 pm

The world will not die just because we die lol. Even if we had a nuclear fallout, and eradicated 90% of life on Earth, it still wouldn't cause the end of the world.

That 10% of life that will remain would repopulate the surface of the Earth in a matter of hundreds of millions of years.

What do you mean by "end of the world?" Its obliteration? Or the eradication of all life on it?

The only way I can see the eradication of all life on Earth would be with its obliteration. Unless an asteroid dozens of kilometers wide crashes into us, I doubt the Earth will become extinct within the next 1 billion years.

If humans aren't dead by then, we'll almost surely get killed when the sun finally runs out of fuel, begins to heat up, becomes a red giant (engulfing the Earth and rendering it uninhabitable), and ultimately, exploding, causing the obliteration of all the planets in the solar system. The only way out of this would be to invent technology to travel deep into space, out of our solar system, and so we can begin colonizing other parts of the galaxy.

If we looked even further into the future, we would see the end of the Universe. In fact, there are many theories that propose the end of it: the deep freeze theory, heat death, big crunch, big rip, etc.,. Then there are also theories that go along with these, such as the many worlds theory, a theory regarding black holes and their significance in the end of the Universe, and even, a theory that proposes that the Universe's "life" (creation and death) is an endless loop that has/will continue(d) infinitely in both directions of "time".

But, we shouldn't worry about those things. After all, it's millions, if not trillions of years away. The human race most likely won't even survive to see it. What all we need to worry about is now. That cute girl you like? Ask her out. Time is short. Make it count! :)

typhoid - January 13, 2015, 10:21 pm

the world will end when the plumed serpent returns to our planet to judge his adopted children.

if we have pleased him, a thousand years of peace will occur and we will finally be worthy enough to join him.

if we have not pleased him, the 5th age will end and be destroyed and the 6th and final age will begin.

How i wish it would happen: zombie apocalypse
