

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Find out email address of a forum's member.

Beanery - January 12, 2015, 5:13 am

Hey,

I don't know if i am right here. But I wanted to ask if it's general possible to find out a member's email adress on a forum.

The reason I am asking is because that google won't give me the required information I need. Though these google results are quiet useless, since I don't know that any information about that person.

I just want to find out who he is and what his email adress might look like.

For your consideration. This person knows everything about me due to my postings in that forum and after I have revealed him that we were classmates in college. Since then he is shutting his idendity away.

I'm just curious who that person is. My intention is not to harm anyone nor any attempts to really "hack" this person. Just curious which of my classmates this person might be.

The only information I do have is his username in the mentioned forum. Do I need any special software or skills, to get to his login information/email adress? (usually the login requires the email as the username or at least for a registration)

Thanks for helping!

PS: just checked. my english sucks. sorry its not my mother tongue!

Krew - January 12, 2015, 5:15 am

What's the username / handle he goes under?

Beanery - January 12, 2015, 5:19 am

Hi!

His username is not here on this forum. its an another forum. did i understand you correct and you would like to know his username?

Krew - January 12, 2015, 5:20 am

(Jan 12, 2015 06:19 AM)Beanery Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hi!

His username is not here on this forum. its an another forum. did i understand you correct and you would like to know his username?

That's correct. I would like to know the username. Would be more easy.

Beanery - January 12, 2015, 5:22 am

great, I will send you a PM. maybe thats easier edit: screw this! can't send you a pm because i need more posts.

are there any other ways to stay in contact with you. i'm trying to keep as much as possible his privacy. dont really want to reveal here this guys ID in public.

InfoOcean - January 12, 2015, 5:26 am

(Jan 12, 2015 06:22 AM)Beanery Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) great, I will send you a PM. maybe thats easier edit: screw this! can't send you a pm because i need more posts.

are there any other ways to stay in contact with you. i'm trying to keep as much as possible his privacy. dont really want to reveal here this guys ID in public.

If you didn't want to put his id out in the public why would you come here asking for help????

Any way if you really need to find out some info I could probably see what I can do if you can find a way to get me the information that is needed.... i.e. his user name

Beanery - January 12, 2015, 5:26 am

and don't you want to know the forum's webpage first?

InfoOcean - January 12, 2015, 5:29 am

(Jan 12, 2015 06:26 AM)Beanery Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) and don't you want to know the forum's webpage first?

Here is what we need from you before we even start.

1. the forum the user is on
2. his user name
3. from there someone might be able to help you.

Oh and any other random info you may have....

Beanery - January 12, 2015, 5:30 am

(Jan 12, 2015 06:26 AM)InfoOcean Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you didn't want to put his id out in the public why would you come here asking for help????

Any way if you really need to find out some info I could probably see what I can do if you can find a way to get me the information that is needed.... i.e. his user name

hi!

you are right. I need some help. but I want to act with caution, though I don't really who I can trust or not. that's why I wanted skip this whole thing via the PM. but apparently I can't because my account has too little posts yet. however, i will post his username here if we really can't find another way to stay in contact. it's just a bit suspicious because you guys are not asking for the forums webpage first?

-ZYMOTOM - January 12, 2015, 5:32 am

A tip is to make an IP grabber link, that you implement in a BB-Code img tag. As it will try to access the image it will make a request to that link, and you'll be able to get his IP, and the image will say it's broken afterwards.

InfoOcean - January 12, 2015, 5:33 am

(Jan 12, 2015 06:30 AM)Beanery Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) hi!

you are right. I need some help. but I want to act with caution, though I don't really who I can trust or not. that's why I wanted skip this whole thing via the PM. but apparently I can't because my account has too little posts yet. however, i will post his username here if we really can't find another way to stay in contact. it's just a bit suspicious because you guys are not asking for the forums webpage first?

Read my last post.....

I would consider not being hesitant if you're coming here asking for help. I already find this painstakingly stupid and would have already posted the info if I wanted someone to help me....

-ZYMOTOM' - January 12, 2015, 5:34 am

Btw, the username can lead to a lot of things, like a skype, or an account on a different site, which could lead to his IP, if it is not accessible on the webpage you are requesting.

But read my previous response, that should get you somewhere.

Beanery - January 12, 2015, 5:53 am

Okay, thanks for your answers.

here are the details:

1. Username is "+plusminus-"
2. forum is pickupforum (DOT) de
3. another forum on which he was active was medforumgraz (DOT) at thanks in advance!

PS:

I have tried to use an iplogger, but he hasn't replied to my pm yet. waiting for him to answer me so that I can find out his IP. would his IP adress be more helpful for you guys?

Does anybody else have an idea or could help me out?