Traffic supplying your Niche!

Now, I was going to make an E-book about this and try to sell it but you know what? I love the people of hack forums and I hope you love me back for teaching you my method to get mass traffic to a niche that you have.

In this thread I will have the niche "video games", it's a stupid one but it will do as an example, am I right? Yes, I am. So first of all, what do we need?

We need:

A facebook account! (It can be fake or real, it doesn't matter. Mine is fake atm)

To make a group on that said facebook account. (Rename it to your niche)

A AddMeFast account (sign up here on my ref link to help me out)

A shit load of credits (Easy to get, I'll teach you how)

Step Number One:

Okay, first you need a fake/real Facebook account. Gain some friends on it for a bit and make it look real. The longer you do this for the more real you will look and the less chance you have of getting banned by Facebook. Then you start your group, it can be any group. A group for video game enthusiasts in my example, eg they want mods that they can download. So what from here? You have the group and you have a realistic Facebook account. How do you get people into this group without seeming like a spammer. Simple my children, you head your ass over to AddMeFast or anything like that, all of them work the same.

Before you start spreading your post though you will need coin. How to get them? The three best ways I have found is "Website Hits" and "View YouTube Videos" both can get you a fair bit but "Website Hits" gives you 2 every 30 seconds at the very least which is like a share every 4:30 minutes.

Okay, let's start spreading your group. First you go to "Add Site/Page" at the top and then on the drop down bar select "Facebook Post Share". Now someone asked me before how to get the Facebook post URL. Here is a Facebook video.

[Video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_VxSp949rD4]

Now, make a post about your group and put the link in the post for the group. Now insert the details for the post into the "Add New Site/Page" area on AddMeFast and watch people roll in.

Now let me explain the maths behind this because you may think it is a load of shit and will now work. Every day you get 200 points from add me fast for being active, that's at least 20 shares. Lets assume all of them shares have 1000 friends because that's the norm. Also go off the assumption that 90% of people on his list will see that post leaving 900 people. Lets say 0.5% of them people (Which is low as hell) look at the post about a video game group and think, "ooh, I'd like to join that." Then you have 5 people per share that will join your group. Now lets look at the fact you are getting 20 shares a day. That puts 100 more people in your group a day on average. Don't forget, we are only getting these prizes if we only accept the daily bonus too, if you do some "Website hits" and "YouTube Views" you could end up with 300 a day. Wish in total would be an extra 150 people joining your group a day.

Nice tutorial mate! I have been using Addmefast for over 3 years. I guess iMacros scripts are blocked for gaining points.

My macro isn't. Yet I don't use IMacro because it can get you banned fast apparently.

Also, you're welcome for the tutorial. I like sharing my tips.

But the most of the people that use Addmefast are using secondary accounts fake one's just to drive traffic.

I dont think that they will pay attention to your niche.
