Thread: How much should I pay for \$100 worth of peanuts?

Douchebag # 145 - January 19, 2015, 10:55 pm

My buddy is selling $100 worth of peanuts. How much should I buy the bunch for, do ya'll think? I love me some peanuts.

Mutiny - January 19, 2015, 11:00 pm

I must be really stupid but isn't he selling them for $100?

Inb4 OP is an elephant.

I wouldn't pay any more than $2 for some peanuts.

This is your call man, enjoy them.

Cyrus - January 19, 2015, 11:06 pm

$99.99 is a good deal for some p nuts.

You said hes selling $100 worth of peanuts but how much should you buy them for..

" How much should I buy the bunch for, do ya'll think? I love me some peanuts. "

Hes selling them for $100, so pay the price hes selling them for?

Do You Want To Bet - January 19, 2015, 11:25 pm

i think what you should do is meet up and ask for a sample. Take a bag home and say you gotta test the sample then come back another day say your sample size wasent large enough and get another bag but bigger this time. Then say it was stole so you need another sample. Then say the squirrels took that bag. And keep making up excesses till you got them all

Mahoneys - January 19, 2015, 11:26 pm

Use the spare change in your pocket. It will be worth it.

Alison Wonderland - January 19, 2015, 11:32 pm

Id have to say if you really are an elephant in need of peanuts

Its not illegal for elephant to kill people

Kill him

Take them

or 97 seems reasonable

aKinGh - January 19, 2015, 11:32 pm

This is a troll thread, If you were actually buying peanuts wouldn't you say how many pounds he is selling?

I told you he's selling $100 worth of peanuts. If I told you he was selling thirty pounds of peanuts, you would have a lesser idea of how much that peanut batch is worth.

thirty pound in my country would be like 300$ holy cheap price :O

go for it op 100$ seems fair

Darkwin - January 19, 2015, 11:38 pm

You don't make any sense, First you say you want "100$ worth of peanuts" however different stores have different prices per pound, I don't think there's a standard per pound amount though i may be wrong. Why not just pay $100 and buy from the supplier whom's selling the cheapest per pound.

He can look up how much currently they going for. 100$ worth doesnt mean anything if he doesnt say how many pounds he is selling. Thats like taking a gamble by just believing its worth the 100$.

Totally not post boosting if thats what you do think.?

Tahh - January 20, 2015, 12:21 am

I recommend buying them for maybe 90 or 95.

But what do I know, I sell goat milk.

My prices are listed at my 7 eleven.

$5 for 1 gallon

$19.99 for 2 gallon + 5% of slurpee

Why the hell are your prices so whack?
2 gallons is the price of what should be 4+?

Magnolia - January 20, 2015, 2:24 am

I wouldn't pay more than $95. Use an escrow service too.

The News - January 20, 2015, 2:24 am

Pay me $100 and i'll eat 100 peanuts in front of you.

EthanX - January 20, 2015, 4:11 am

$80-$95 would be a good price to pay for $100 of peanuts.

Stoke - January 20, 2015, 4:12 am

$60.

Seems like a reasonable price.

ParulSharma - January 20, 2015, 5:07 am

He seems desperate to sell some. Go for 80, very reasonable.

Sacred Symmetry - January 20, 2015, 5:11 am

95 dolaaah

Peanuts be good yo.

Go get yourself some fine nuts
