

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Forum Software Subsection in Website Construction

Crypto™ - January 26, 2015, 1:51 pm

I'd like to see a subforum for Forum Software. There are TONS of threads just for MyBB, (25 Pages according to search) and that's well over 100 threads, plus 19 pages of vBulletin, 7 pages of phpBB, 5 pages worth of IP.Board, 3 pages of Xenforo, and that's just what's in Website construction. There's also 6 pages of MyBB threads in PHP Development, and two pages of vBulletin.

This amounts to well over 100 threads, and I'd love to have these in their own subforum. I think it'd allow users to receive better help on their forum software from users who are most experienced in Forum Software.

Bluffer - January 26, 2015, 3:47 pm

Yeah I agree with this suggestion, there is just way to many forum related discussions that reasonable threads get buried under them all.

NoMercy - January 26, 2015, 3:51 pm

This sounds exciting. I would like to see this in place.

Legion. - January 26, 2015, 4:42 pm

Sounds good. I would use this allllll the time. The website section is clogged.

Omniscient - January 27, 2015, 7:53 pm

Done. Also added thread prefixes for the major forum software.