Rodrigo Alves, a 31-year-old flight attendant who lives in London, is making a name for himself after reportedly spending more than $265,000 on 30 body and face changing procedures so that he has achieve the "perfect" form.

Alves has reportedly already gone under the knife for procedures like liposuction, multiple nose jobs, six-pack implants, calf implants and Botox fillers. But for his latest medical operation, Alves flew to Colombia for a super-risky $75,900 six-in-one super surgery.

The scary surgery included his fourth nose job, an eye operation, an ear-pinning procedure, some more liposuction and a gruesome operation on his mouth to give him a wider smile.

"It's a long process," Alves told the Daily Mail of his plastic surgery obsession. "It is long-term maintenance. Once you start, it is difficult to stop. Naturally I'm a perfectionist. It's like a snowball effect and I'm not going to stop."

He added, "It doesn't define the man that I am—I'm much more than silicone and cosmetic surgery—but once you get started it's difficult to stop."

Alves has also extensively documented his journey on his Instagram page. He recently shared a comparison photo of himself and an actual Ken doll.

"I never set out to look like the #kendoll it was a nick name given by my friends and the press which doesn't bother me at all," he wrote. "I just wanted to be a better person and I truly am #happy #plasticpositive #kendoll #kenhumano #realityshow #reallifekendoll #rodrigoalves."

This is hilarious. Wtf, some scary shit. I wonder what his friends think? Does he even have friends? Maybe he should hang out with the other ken and barbie people... Start a private club (probably already have it) lol

Wheezy Gang - January 31, 2015, 10:05 am

Raguel - January 31, 2015, 10:25 am

How is a flight attendant making enough money for all of this?

TreeWeep - January 31, 2015, 10:25 am

How can you do this 2 yourself? What is he trying to achieve...

Read - January 31, 2015, 10:26 am

Honestly, I wouldn't want to look like that either way.. It just looks so un-natural in which it is, just looks like someone laminated his face and called it a day.

GrandTheftHorsePart2 - January 31, 2015, 10:26 am

He looks more like a human mirror...

He lives in England, he is probably leeching off of their nationalized medical system.

Optimized - January 31, 2015, 3:10 pm

He's so... so shiny!

But seriously, I saw a documentry on this guy.

So lazy, he had fucking surgery for muscle and a six pack.

Who's he tryna impress, Barbie?

(Jan 31, 2015 11:25 AM)Subsister Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How is a flight attendant making enough money for all of this?

From the documentry I saw. He stated unlike others he doesnt have all the luxuries in life, he only pays for things he has to, not big tvs or a car etc.

CHCL - January 31, 2015, 8:25 pm

Surgery for a six pack???? What a lazy person.

Also, that is NOTHING close to the perfect form.

tired- - February 2, 2015, 4:30 am

The old one was pretty stupid but this guy tops it, what the hell.

DaUnknown - February 2, 2015, 4:59 am

That is funny. I know people that talk about surgery all the time and they are probably stupid enough to do that to themselves.

XLordPrometheusX - February 2, 2015, 9:00 pm

That is one scary motherfucker! I hope people stop wasting time and money on trivial things. He probably looked way better before and now he is just a nightmare little children and adults alike will share.

shaneT_T - February 2, 2015, 9:01 pm

Could've bought so much stuff but he wants to look like a Doll? I don't understand some people...

voldemort725 - February 2, 2015, 9:05 pm

When he said he wanted to achieve a perfect form....All I thought of was..
