Thread: Why are most Riven players such assholes and support players so laidback?

Antinormality - February 8, 2015, 4:14 am

We all know how toxic League players can be and all but some characters seem to have more toxic players and way higher leave rates... Riven as example from personal experience is someone who will rage, flame and go afk after that. Taric players as another example usually are laidback and take things easy.

Do champs indirectly mirror character?

Infamous graph:

No, the only Riven players that there are are die-hard Riven mains. Also, Riven is one of the harder champs to play so if they fuck up or do bad they can't except it because of how good they think they are (most think they're as good as the likes of boxbox or LORD MASTER KING or maybe even Megazero ?)

Taric on the other hand is pretty easy in terms of mechanics and can be picked up by anyone and played at a normal standard for their elo first time playing him. This means that they're going to not be stressed trying to hard to do insane plays and generally being more laid back.

Mr. Corleone - February 8, 2015, 4:33 am

This is so true, literally EVERY riven champion I've played against got either fed, and talks big in the /all chat, and when they feed they just rage and talk really bad in the /all chat.

I remember playing against a Taric dude, he said he had to go afk because he was smoking a joint and was really high while playing LoL.
So you're kinda right lol.

I'm on EUW and my support Taric was French, usually the most Frenchies on EUW are straight up assholes... This one was actually friendly and did his job. Another time I had an Leona support, she explained what her plan was on the fountain and in lane she only pinged and said the occasional thing.

Now there's those midlaners.... Those guys could be women, they change their attitude every 10 seconds.

Yeah you got that type of midlaners that never roam, usually never ward and get ganked and die. They get mad and look at the score of botlane and if they see you doing bad or doing something wrong they use it as an excuse to blame you for their game.

But since 50 games ago I started muting literally all 9 players after 2th minute, my winning rate went up and I never talk in chat again, never flame, I feel more positive, and I ping more so people understand me much better.

Powerful Nekomancer - February 8, 2015, 4:43 am

I've smurfed at least 3 times in Gold and Diamond.

I don't think I've ever encountered a Riven main, seriously.

Also I wouldn't agree on what you've stated here.

Cause I see Support players being ass holes too.
tbh every lane has been equally bad in my experience.

It's either, someone complains about a gank (any lane) or the jungler complains about your lack of response in a gank.

And I've seen countless times where support players call their ADC bad.
Or vice versa.

Everyone just wants to win and some players just like to chat more.
I don't think role has any influence on it.

Stop playing league and play Tera or something

Riven players are most likely nerds that won't have pride in their family.
Unless they are professional players.
bye.

You play Smexy?

Ontopic: A lot of people tend to get on tilt playing higher skill cap champions such as Riven.

iSevere - February 8, 2015, 5:07 am

They pick riven , they give first blood and ragequit . It's simple .

Exvie - February 8, 2015, 6:03 am

Supports know that comebacks happen and one catch can win you the game.

Riven sucks when behind, so when they lose lane they give up hope because they don't realize farm can win you the game.

I once played Riven, and I must say I played very bad I was 0/6 after 20 minutes, but I kept farming my Top lane constantly without doing anything else, I kept taking jungles as fast as I could I walked as fast as I could from jungle monsters to minions, from minions to jungle monsters, while not dieing and after 10 minutes I go so fucked up OP without realizing it, I got a quadra, and ended the game with somethines like 18/9, it was a really nice game.

?I????ry - February 8, 2015, 8:17 am

I main Riven and I don't rage that much xD if I give up first blood or have an early death, i know it's not the end of the world because of how much she can snowball. Once she hits 6 she has incredible 1v1 potential, especially with ignite. If i'm behind, I just try to keep up the CS and I'll roam to mid lane if my lane is pushed up, or I'll ward the enemy red/blue area and sometimes you can get easy kills. But yeah, I don't rage with Riven because I always do great with her late game.

And I also feel like some support players have that mindset of "oh i'm support so it doesn't matter if I gave 5 deaths up before 13 min" so they don't really rage. I really hate people like that because it kind of does matter xD

Riven, if even behind is still strong. Now I haven't played here a million times but when I did I noticed that she seems to be strong all around the game.

Riven's usually get fed due to this.

iMew - February 8, 2015, 8:54 am

Can confirm, am Riven main. Just kidding, I don't think I've left a game since season 1 (unless my internet died or something like that) and I don't flame either. The few Riven players on my buddylist are pretty nice as well, although I've seen some dicks in soloq.

I hate when people blame me for dying (x10 if it's the ADC I'm peeling for), I'm dying to save your ass, I'm doing this because I don't want to hand them a shutdown/easy feed. I'm the support, if I die it isn't as bad in comparison to losing a carry.

Yeah that's undersrandable, but if i'm behind as ADC, I just tell my support to play more passive so I don't risk more deaths :p

No, not really. Riven's player base is just generalized based on how some player are. You can say the same about Vayne and Yasuo players always trying to 1v5.

^ This. As a Yasuo player that goes 3/20 almost every game, I can confirm this.

Poor urgot :(Why is he so bad .. :(

Ordium - February 8, 2015, 1:54 pm

If you look at the leaving rate, it's people who expect that they can solo carry in bronze, then realize they suck with the champ.

Complexity_Red - February 8, 2015, 1:55 pm

Because if you do shit in lane as Riven you're pretty much fucked until you can farm safely. Many players just give up after a few deaths on her, because they aren't performing like boxbox.

Because the trolls, Urgot does decently in toplane. Not the best champ but his bad position in this graph is because of all the trolls.

She could still make herself useful later on in teamfights, she has 4 stuns she can spam into people which as example could peel the ADC. Also she can snowball hard as someone mentioned before.

mrDH - February 8, 2015, 2:43 pm

I was playing with a riven today (on a new account) and they were actually one of the bad riven players you were talking about. I picked top first and they picked top after me. They then demanded I go in another lane as they will carry but then said they would afk. In game I was 3/0/0 where she was 0/3/0 -- (we were against a duo top). Eventually she did get fed mind thanks to me giving her a couple of kills to get her started.

But I play mainly top and I never leave any games or flame. I just always think if the game goes on long enough we will eventually all be full build and that one team fight can win the whole game.

Just because diamond league shows riven leaves alot in diamond doesn't mean you have to be stereotypical with every league. And there is 2 riven stuns. ?

Broken Wings only stuns on the last colission? I thought it stunned all the 3 times which would result in 4 stuns combined with her W.

I'm not saying everyone fulfills the stereotype, I just had a great game with a Vayne player...No it doesn't but all three of them do equal damage

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

ACTIVE: Riven steps forward and lashes out in a series of powerful slashes, dealing physical damage to all enemies within 112.5-range. Broken Wings can be cast two additional times within 4 seconds, with the timer resetting after each.

PHYSICAL DAMAGE: 10 / 30 / 50 / 70 / 90 (+ 40 / 45 / 50 / 55 / 60% AD)

TOTAL DAMAGE: 30 / 90 / 150 / 210 / 270 (+ 120 / 135 / 150 / 165 / 180% AD)

All three strikes deal the same damage, with the third damaging enemies within 150-range and Airborne icon knocking them up. Riven will target the unit under your cursor; if no targets are present, Riven will simply strike the direction she is currently facing.

Might as well say she has 4 stuns.

With full CDR she can cast her Q every 5.2 seconds and her W every 2.8 seconds.

Riven mains are usually the most toxic due to the fact that a majority of them are whiny little kids. I'm not saying Riven is a bad champion in general but Riven is a champion that may as well be an ADC. Have you ever ran into a Riven who would build tank items when behind instead of trying to become the 0/12/2 AD glass cannon? I haven't.

As for support mains, people who generally main support are people who give up hope in becoming the glorified hero who won the game. It takes a lot of maturity to be able to sacrifice your own personal needs for your team. I suppose that is why; support mains are generally more mature.

ep1capple - February 8, 2015, 11:51 pm

Where is this graph coming from if you don't mind, how valid is it? I don't disagree with it Riven mains are among the most toxic players in league.

Kongou - February 9, 2015, 1:40 am

I agree 100% with you OP, we had a weird setup so someone had to join our "Riven main" on top lane.

She decided to leave the game. Just because she couldn't show off how good she is you know.

This pretty much applies to all hard snowballing champs ie katarina,fiora,leblanc. If they dont get fed or get ganked they bitch at their jungler..
