Thread: OMC group: Who's gonna get it?

Who Soup - February 8, 2015, 11:54 pm

We have a lot of big name players stepping up to try and buy this group ranging from big name OMC miners to very wealthy users.

Who do you think will end up purchasing the new OMC group?

FRANKIE - February 8, 2015, 11:55 pm

Meh, it is all just going to be speculation until Omni picks the highest bidder.

Autopost - February 8, 2015, 11:56 pm

It'll be a group purchase (e.g. split three ways, just not officially) or someone purchasing via a third party, I'd bet on it.

Jimmie - February 8, 2015, 11:57 pm

Camer?n is buying $2k worth of omnicoin so he has a good chance if he doesn't back out.

Dum De Dum - February 8, 2015, 11:58 pm

Tbh, I think it would be Understalker or Syrah. Both are eager to buy another group.

$2k isn't shit.

Grim is offering $4k and I'm offering more, just sitting back till kids wanna start selling.

You guys don't think it'll be a big miner such as Ortek, Hopped, kidcrash, etc.

This... Everyone is buying up, it'll die in a week or two and half in price, smart men will buy then.

Nope, miners aren't interested in a group, they'll sell, I'd be surprised if Understalker etc haven't contacted them.

They can't sell the group for over one year.

You still have to remember that group cannot be sold for a year after the purchase and it can only be purchased with omnicoin.

If a bunch of people buy $2k worth of omc and they get out bidded does that mean they pretty much lost $2k because omc is going to probably fall hard after the group is bought

The price may go above $10,000. Thinking of buying a group for $2,000 is impossible. OMC price had increase 400% after the announcement.

Kind of... There has only been like 1 transaction latest at like 1 cent but it was for like 100 omc so I think that was just a trick so people believe it's actually 1 cent atm. Unless more people buy at that price, I'm assuming it's much lower but yes, it did go up indeed.

MrOrang - February 9, 2015, 12:45 am

It shouldn't go over $7k in OMC as current price for groups is about $7k. I bet it's Understalker or Grim although Aceman also has a lot of OMC if I recall correctly.

You didn't seem to understand the difference between volume and market depth, which is a fairly basic differentiation on any exchange. I gave you the information you needed, and showed you how to do what you need. And guess what. I don't give a damn about the volume that goes in and out of your wallet. It's entirely irrelevant. You can go ahead and do what you wanted. I don't give a damn. Hope I helped you more than your abrasive tone would suggest.

Hey bud if you look at the available volume it's like 350k at max, Omni told me if I bought it all out he would add more, I want to buy 1 mil and be done without market fluctuation in that time span.

Understalksr got this one in the bag?

Actually, there's almost 600k, and that's only counting what's under 0.00005/coin. Plus, if you buy it up, people will add more to fill your order :D And considering you're looking to buy over 5x the average daily volume, it's highly unlikely that you'll be able to do it without market fluctuation.

So...

Who's going to get it now? ?

Scymo - February 10, 2015, 4:47 pm

Don't expect any new bids, there was just a huge problem with OMC.

I'm quite aware of that, wondering how the hell someone will bid on it now ?

Currently, our only priority is returning OMC to a usable state, so the auction may be postponed. We're working with AllCrypt and Omni on this resolution.

Anyway,

I assume you heard about the recent exploit; he doesn't have plans to close the bidding. Really sad that someone would fuck it up for everyone.

Place an order for 1 mil coins at a price you want people well fill it.

I don't think one person has 1M now. Even if they did I think that would be some red flags for omni due to the recent exploit ?

The OMC group has been bought, it will be branded as "Pokemon Masters"

I have physical assets I'd love to trade for the not-terribly hefty OMC funds I'd need to purchase this group in full, if anyone is more interested in that stuff than a group. Just saying ?

Most of the people who make a lot are doing something very black hat. ?

Just wondering, what exactly is going on? I'm not entirely sure.

You're buying the OMC group with Omnicoins? :P Where do you bid?

I'm asking who do you think will get the group. After all of these hacks this should be very interesting
