Thread: Allowed to sell accounts though our website, that isn't allowed on hackforums?

PrivateDonut - February 16, 2015, 9:05 pm

Hello everyone,

I have a few questions regarding selling accounts on our website that isn't allowed on hackforums. Keep reading to get some examples.

Would I be allowed to sell porn accounts though our website, and not say anything on hackforums about this.

Would my thread get deleted, even though I didn't say anything on hackforums about it?

Pretty sure that, even if everyone on HF knows you run a site to sell porn accounts, HF staff wouldn't be able to do anything about it because it's not on their site.

Yes, but they are in control to allow my thread to stay up or not. I want to make sure before we add these accounts to our site, but not post anything about it on hackforums.

Don't advertise your website on HF under any circumstances. No Porn/SE/BH/Fraud/Warez/Hacking content allowed.

So it's like a forum with a porn accounts marketplace. TBH I didn't see omni say anything against that.

Edit: just go with what factor8 posted

Alright thank you, we didn't add any porn accounts to our shop. But I wanted to make sure before we decided if we would or not. But it is allowed to post my site selling non-free accounts correct, within my non-free account thread? ?
