Hey everyone! Just wanted to get on here and share with my fellow HF members our new game that we are working on!

It's called "Deserted Alone" and you are washed upon a deserted island.. You must survive as well as bring your mental state to a stand still to overcome your fears to get off of the island!

Our team is a small team of 3.

We are very under budget in making this game and if you would like to help out any donation at all is appreciated because as some of you all may know game development can take quite a bit of money! So if you would like to help us make the game it should be go here (also check out some of the perks you will get for donating

I know HF isn't really a place to be asking for donations but most of you don't even care but here it is anyways
