a character i doodled up in 5 minutes. The first time i try to draw one with different perspectives!

How do i make these look more alike? I somehow made the one to the left very young haha.

thanks

Not bad at all, looks like chad from my life as a teenage robot.

It looks really good, and in my opinion the left one is more younger because of the expression that is making.

To make them look very much like each other maybe you should try giving the same state of mind, I don't know.

P.S: I'm not a pro on this kind of things, and maybe the middle one doesn't look like the left one because his eyes aren't as "down".

I kinda get what you mean.. i think.. I gave the middle one some broader shoulders and the facial expression on the left needs some adjusting.

Thanks for the criticism guys! Appreciate it.
