Thread: Free graphical work by experienced designer!

Sobriety - February 23, 2015, 10:33 am

I have decided to get back in the game, and therefore I need up-to-date references. Only a few projects will be chosen, and you will be notified via PM. There is a few terms;

*I reserve the right to showcase the work

*You are required to write a short brief on whatever it is you want

*I don't work with a deadline, however I will try to do it as quickly as possible.

I am mainly looking to design threads, banners and perhaps a logo if it's not too complex.

Post below why I should choose you, and include your brief on the project.

To be honest, I would just trail the Graphics Section here. There are a lot of really helpful tutorials that will get you on your feet quickly.

They won't put enough pressure on me to be honest. I'd much rather work freely, and train the process of creative thinking too.

Looking for a banner for my clan, It wouldn't have to be but would be nice if it had some runescape relation to pures, Would be appreciated if you fulfil my request, The name of our clan is Tier One and the slogan is 'Hate us coz you anus'

You should choose this as a project as one of our advertisements has recieved over 700 views on a community related forum, would be good for you to get yourself out there espically in the rs community, people are always looking for good gfx over there.

Hey I need a logo two projects I am working on, do you have skype or some sort of instant messenger I can add you on?

I'd be really glad to get something nice done since I don't have much experience with graphics.

If you do, have some sort of instant messenger, you can tell me which one it is and I will send you a message with my name or you can simply Private Message me with your username.

Looking forward for your reply.

Not sure I'm willing to help, when you don't care to read the thread/follow my instructions.

That's way too much work with pay, sorry. I suggest you find a paid illustrator. ?
