Fitness facebook pages are a gold mine in my opinion. Try running some affiliate offers from Clickbank or contact some detox tea supplier and promote them as an affiliate.

Genius, what about MyLikes do you think they are profitable & worth my time?

If you are:

Lazy

Don't have your own website.

Don't do CPA

Then yes, MyLikes is profitable and worth your time. However, most MyLikes content are click-bait and are also not related to fitness (unless it's just hot girls in yoga pants), so you might not get as many clicks as you will get if you are running a comedy niche page instead.

(Feb 25, 2015 11:44 PM)Crusher Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can you tell me why would anyone sell their 100$/day e-book if they already make that much money? Even more.

Hi,

I'm a eBook seller myself, so I'll tell you what goes through my mind when I find a new method that works well.

Is it easily replicable?

Is there always going to be a demand?

Is saturate-able?

How can I make extra money with this?

If it fills 3 out of the 4 conditions I listed, I would contemplate making one. This is because it'll bring in extra income. If you supposedly earn $100 a day with the method, why not sell the method and make a potential $150 a day if the method isn't saturate-able? Of course, there are sellers out there that say the same thing, but it's up to you, the customer, to choose whether or not you believe that person. Not to mention, it's a great way to gain affiliates if your method has some sort of affiliate system, which would in return earn extra income.

OR

some sellers do not utilize their own methods but are selling it as the magical method to online riches.

You're, however, free to not purchase any eBooks if you do not believe they are worth your time or money. There are thousands of free resources online which you can use to make money as well. I hope this answers your question. ?

Well as a complete beginner, you can go with a few things - here are some methods if you do not mind them:

eWhoring

eWhoring is a pretty decent method if you're looking to make a few dollars to boot start your LEGITIMATE project / campaign. I personally have done this first to get some capital for my projects. For more information, check out this sub-forum: Adult Content Management

Look up this tutorial by sonex - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4503867>
Start A Service

Use your talents / passion and make it your money maker. Are you talented in Photoshop? If you are, start a GFX service. Are you a talented writer? If so, start a content writing service! The list are endless, as long as you're talented, there must be a demand for it.

Hello,

I saw your thread in the Premium Sellers section, I was wondering why you did that? Premium Sellers is one of the most aggressive marketplace section as it is general. Have you tried creating a thread in eBook Bazaar? Also, one good way to generate more sales is to purchase a sticky.

As for off-site sales, try to look up different forums such as hackforums, SocialMediaHub, RealForums, WarriorForums and so on and so forth. You can also hire affiliates for off-site sales.

Can I make anything from a investment as small as $15?

SIM-888979 - February 27, 2015, 4:34 am

(Feb 27, 2015 05:01 AM)JesseTheLegend Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can I make anything from a investment as small as $15?

Certainly. There are a few things you can do with $15. Here's two.
Kickstart your CPA / Affiliate Marketing career.

With $15, you can easily start your CPA career if you're not into it already. Look around the internet for a niche. Once you found one, make a website for it. You can get a year of domain at $10 (typical .com, .net, unless you go for .info which is super cheap, or .xyz) and spend the other $5 on hosting (if you need hosting, check out polyhost.net - we offer hosting at $1.75 per month - use coupon GRANDOPENING). You then can start promoting it through SEO, social media and so on. For a more extensive guide, check this out: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3580687>
Buy Low, Sell High.

With your current amount of investment, you could possibly resell something that is low in cost. I see that you're an avid fan of FIFA, and IIRC - you can buy / sell some sort of ingame currency for that. Perhaps you can look into reselling that currency if the rates are volatile (sorry if it isn't, I don't play FIFA). You could also potentially resell services on Hack Forums - just go around and take a look. For an example, some people are selling Social Media Shoutouts, which you could possibly offer elsewhere for maybe 50% more, thus earning yourself a 50% profit.

He couldnt pay with PayPal, only banks and since my mother manages my bank and my brothers banks I cant recieve payments there.

So I could resell but do I just buy it from the site where I resell from or do I keep stock?

Have you tried spreading it via other social media such as Facebook? I know for instance there are lots of local job sites in Australia that people use. Have you tried looking for any other local Canadian only sites, perhaps you could draw more traffic and response from there.

Hey - the number one way I see most people monetizing their IG's is by selling shoutouts to interested parties. Perhaps put an e-mail in your bio where people can contact you for services like that. Or even then you could start your own service here on HackForums promoting the same thing.

Additionally, you could also try pushing CPA offers (perhaps app installs) through putting a link in your bio and getting followers to visit it. You'd be getting paid for every install etc.

Hi

Do you have any good sources for adsense safe website/blog traffic. And is buying traffic and joining a HQ clicking exchange group still a legitimate way to make money? Taking it slowly to begin with of course?

I would also like to use RSS feed content or content from other sources instead of writing my own.

Is this a recipe for disaster or can i make it work? I could be willing to write my own content even through i have no idea about the niche i would be venturing into.

Hey dude, I'm 16 right now and what I plan to do is just buy a prepaid debit card (the ones you see at walmart, walgreens, etc) and use that to just make a paypal.

I asked a question just like yours a few days back and they said you could use a prepaid debit card.

As for the money, just keep searching the forums, doubt you'll be able to make 10 to 15 dollars just starting out

Hey dude, I'm 16 right now and what I plan to do is just buy a prepaid debit card (the ones you see at walmart, walgreens, etc) and use that to just make a paypal.

I asked a question just like yours a few days back and they said you could use a prepaid debit card.

As for the money, just keep searching the forums, doubt you'll be able to make 10 to 15 dollars just starting out

Sorry Where I live We don't Get Prepaid Cards or any thing like It.For paypal I need a bank account And my mom manages mine so i don't have a private one.

Have you tried e-whoring? You can obtain Amazon giftcards and sell them for Bitcoins at certain places.

(Feb 28, 2015 11:59 AM)Bobbydigital86 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hi

Do you have any good sources for adsense safe website/blog traffic. And is buying traffic and joining a HQ clicking exchange group still a legitimate way to make money? Taking it slowly to begin with of course?

I would also like to use RSS feed content or content from other sources instead of writing my own.

Is this a recipe for disaster or can i make it work? I could be willing to write my own content even through i have no idea about the niche i would be venturing into.

Thanks

I haven't dabbled in traffic for awhile now, when I did click exchange I mainly bought it from traffic sellers using iFrames. I believe that click exchange can still be decent if you do it right, as for the content - if you do not wish to SEO, there's really no point writing your own content. Just RSS it.

You can start a RDP shop and sell those VPSes or you can perhaps run bots on it that would be profitable.

However, I need to buy myself a domain and hosting because, well, it's just better.
What kind of content locking could you suggest?

I found a few keywords that get about 15k searches a month with little to no competition, I want to set up a website using a free host first to see if I can get any traffic.

Do you know if google penalizes free host sites ?

Also how long should I monitor it to see if the niche is worth investing in ?

I plan on using ad's to monetize the niche, not affiliates.

Hi, here is the info that should help you:

Quote:If a free hosting service begins to show patterns of spam, we make a strong effort to be granular and tackle only spammy pages or sites. However, in some cases, when the spammers have pretty much taken over the free web hosting service or a large fraction of the service, we may be forced to take more decisive steps to protect our users and remove the entire free web hosting service from our search results.

Hosting isn't that expensive as well, if you need cheap hosting, you can contact me and I can sort it out for you. :-)

Hey there! I could really use some help. I have been trying lately to get people to complete surveys by posting craigslist ads. I offer a job, and when the people email me to inquire about it, I have the survey integrated into the application process. I have had 30 clicks and one lead over like 2 weeks, which isn't really the greatest. My other problem is that my Craigslist ads keep getting flagged, even though I only post 2 a day from each different IP. Should I change up the content in my Craigslist ads? Or move on completely to another way to get clicks. Any help would be great! Thanks -illinifan

I honestly don't think that is going to work. You need to find another form of traffic as 30 clicks over 2 weeks is pretty bad. Try and experiment on how to get your own traffic.

Hi, if you meant PPV & PPC via Facebook group - yes, there is still money to be made. However, groups are not as active as fanpages, so you might want to look into converting your group members to fanpage likes. You can still however dabble in MyLikes, which is a service that offer click bait articles and they pay per click.

Most likely it is because your niche is competitive and other people are reporting you. Try choosing a niche that is less well known.

"Content locking" comes to mind. Make a website where you "provide" the content for free, and put up a content locker before you let them "access the new content".

A good way would be to offer shout-outs to either people, or companies.

Depending on the type of things you post on your Instagram, clothing companies, or tech companies can pay you or even give you products to advertise their stuff on your page to your followers.

hey there, i'm interested in starting a social enterprise, providing low-income families (especially townships in africa/south america/ asia) with high quality housing. My team and I (including business administration with bachelor's degree and architects w master degree) do have a concrete and detailed plan how to build the houses. We have a 'good' business plan; (among winners of a competition of 6k+ students); we've build a small scale model, however due to circumstances we've lost it. since it's a social enterprise we have a big focus on creating value in every step possible; creating dignity, being 'more' eco-friendly than traditional ways, being monetary social though earning money (obviously that is one part of the business plan). anyway we've been working on this project quite some time (3+ years) but all the way the progress has stuck a bit, some people got married; live in another country; have a full-time job + family etc.). now we actually have two 'real' inquiries though not in townships but in the western countries and alaska ;D. so, the architects are currently working on modifying the houses to other climates, which brings me to my question; in order to test these houses we need to build some real life model(s) but we dont have money. where do i find one to lets say ten investors to fund us? we had once a crowdfunding campaign where we got about 5K€ but it got eaten up by all kinds of costs. we are really not looking into another crowdfunding campaign again. we would prefer speaking to some potential investors that also have a similar mindset like us.

thanks in advance and any suggestions are welcome

It's impossible to find an investor for this here. I have 0 experiences regarding this, so it's not good for both you and I if I make any suggestions.

How can I use USA proxy for websites such as cashcrate for offers and surveys? Is there any tutorial? I used " hide my ip " and used some New York ip but still I couldn't see any offers. Am I missing on something? Btw I'm from South Europe so payments via check could be a little bit of problem? Thanks in advance.
