Thread: [Scammed by StacksAMillionaire \$500 website \[uid=1862873\]](#)

Dezzz - February 27, 2015, 2:18 pm

His profile <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=1862873>

So he asked me to make a blog website for him and that's what I did.

After I completed the website he started acting sketchy and telling me to prove the site will work on his domain. I showed him many times before the site working but he still didn't believe me. I recently checked his site (<http://stacksamilli.com/>) and saw that he ripped the theme I made.

Here's the full convo log <http://pastebin.com/NUPhiwKM>

that site is not worth $500.

It looks terrible, but he did scam you.

Stacks has been running away with other people's money for years. just look at his recent thread--->
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4517509>

He provides ppd classes $250, then only does like one or no class and never contacts his customers again. Just look at his thread; people have been waiting weeks and months for his class and nothing.. All of his vouches are obviously fake. I don't see how an obvious scammer like him hasn't been banned by staff yet. He's seriously polluting the marketplace honestly.

Now he wants to neg me with lies, but he still can't own up to his scams. watch out for this user. he is a lair and a scammer.

Filed a police report, told them there's plenty of other people that's been scammed & I provided them with the information I got.

Will get this guy down for fraud, bigtime now. If anyone has been scammed by him, please PM me with all information you can give about it & I will provide it to the police & also the free lawyer agency in Sweden that I've been in contact with.
