Thread: LET'S GET OMC ONTO CRYPTSY! | Community Support Needed!

SIM-2015410 - February 27, 2015, 3:59 pm

Hey everyone,

Omnicoins are pushing to get onto Cryptsy's exchange. A huge factor in their decision is the community support they see from YOU. We need YOUR help to get Omnicoin listed on Cryptsy.

THE FIRST TASK: Vote for Omnicoin on Cryptsy now!

Each Cryptsy user is allowed 1 free vote per coin.

To sign up please visit this link: <https://www.cryptsy.com/users/register>.

Paid votes can be submitted using either BTC or CryptsyPoints. Every 0.0002 BTC will count for 1 vote.

Send to: 1BCSbLh9qU9LmqkHUcJwaAe77gzwYb9Y9Z

It's far cheaper to purchase Cryptsy points and then vote with them. It's only 0.00012 BTC / vote that way instead of 0.0002 BTC (5 votes per CryptsyPoint).

Go into the CP market and buy them, then use them to vote, although this can be a bit slower than just using bitcoin.

If you want to vote with CryptsyPoints in bulk amounts, use the Cryptsy Voting Script by Abraham Lincoln to help!

Vote here: <https://www.cryptsy.com/coinvotes/>

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4707940> - Huge thanks to Supervisor for his help!

COMMUNITY SUPPORT IS VERY IMPORTANT, SO EVERYONE'S FREE VOTE MATTERS!
PLEASE VOTE FOR OMC!

Thousands of individuals voting once is better than an individual voting a thousand times.

The second task is really simple. Cryptsy has told me that they will monitor the activity of the Omnicoin Thread on bitcointalk.org. Currently it is sitting with less than even 1 full page of replies. We need you to:

Login or Register on bitcointalk.org

Visit the Omnicoin Thread there

Post a positive reply!

It's as easy as that! Once Cryptsy sees the huge boom in replies in the thread, they will easily be able to see that Omnicoin is strongly backed by the community, and that is a huge step toward getting it listed.

So thank you very much in advance for your support, I hope each and every one of you reading this thread will take the short time to do your part in our community coin.

MeshCollider and the Omnicoin Team.

Sounds like Omnicoin is back on the rise! I will be constantly mining this coin until it dies, hopefully we can stop the people who are renting rigs just to mine this coin, though.

We will rise!

Thank you very much, great start! I am sure we can get listed on cryptsy if the community backs us.

This should help. Maybe we can finally get the listing there.

Someone should host a contest like "Post on that thread to get the chance to win the OMC award"

Good luck guys.

This is a good idea but I've thought of a slight improvement on it. We should post on the twitter of somewhere like bitcointalk or Cryptsy, something along the lines of "Vote for OMC on Cryptsy" and then put a competition on the forums saying. If you post here saying "OMC for Cryptsy - HFUsername" you may win a chance to get the OMC award. Then after a week of everyone posting use random.org to pick someone.

rollerxray7 - February 28, 2015, 9:16 am

I have a contest going right now if you check my threads. It involves a signature linking back to this thread, hopefully get us some notice in the Omnicoin section :)

Jelo - February 28, 2015, 2:00 pm

Posting on the thread on bitcointalk as we speak. Looking forward to seeing OMC on Cryptsy. ?

Omniscient - February 28, 2015, 3:15 pm

Voting on Cryptsy is cheaper with CryptsyPoints if you have them. You get 5 votes for 1 point. It's cheaper to go into the CP market and buy them with your BTC than to vote with just BTC. However it's slower so if you plan on voting with 100 points it's going to take up some time. I bought 50 CP and used them to vote us up a bit.

I wish I had known you got 5 votes per point. I calculated it thinking it was only 1 point and just voted by sending a ton of BTC.

If you vote with BTC, it's 0.0002 BTC / vote

If you buy points and vote, it's 0.00012 BTC / vote

Shanks - February 28, 2015, 3:32 pm

I had a little money on cryptsy, voted with 35 cryptsypoints. Should be a couple of votes at least,

Good luck.

Cheers

Exactly. Someone is selling 1000 CP too for about .66 BTC in cryptsy market. So that 1000 CP is 5000 votes.

Math:

5000 votes bought with 1000 CP at .66 BTC is .034 per vote

5000 votes bought with BTC at .0002 per vote is .051 per vote

Only problem is that you have to sit there and click each vote. Maybe someone can write a userscript to speed up the process. We might also do better off asking everyone with a Cryptsy account to use their nearly pointless CP to vote for OMC.

Moeseph - February 28, 2015, 6:19 pm

I can purchase a big lump of votes this week, however If anyone wants to me to send them the money and they click the votes that would be nice!

But we need to find someone to make a userscript because manually voting each time takes forever. This could save us hundreds of dollars.

If we get 10,000 votes I think that will place us into 7th place. We started the day around 2k votes and we're up to over 5500.

Alright well, i'll keep an eye out on the Omnicoin sub forum to see if anyone makes that user script and just buy CP and run it for the votes.

Abraham Lincoln - February 28, 2015, 6:52 pm

JavaCoderz - March 3, 2015, 10:39 am

Did my best to post a decent comment that I don't believe will be deleted.

It would probably look a lot better if everyone made more detailed posts on their experience with the coin rather than simple fangirling, as that would show others that we care about the coin more than just mining a little bit because it's part of HF.

Not sure it's worth paying the vote-bribe. Either we get listed this time based on how the coin is now or we push for another exchange to accept us even if I have to just straight up pay them to do so. I want us on Cryptsy but realistically they are a hassle and this bribery shit is annoying.

If we weren't HF I'm sure we'd be listed at a few exchanges by now. We have a steady one-year track record of being a decent enough coin. I see lots of crap coins that are dead on exchanges.

This process is super frustrating.

Surely it is better that we are fueled by an active community? I don't understand why they would bypass us because we are a forum coin.

It's frustrating for me so I can't imagine how frustrating it is for you since you own the coin and do so much work for it.

Nobody owns the coin, it is a community coin and is open source. The team as a whole manage developments but everyone who uses it 'owns' it.

This MUST happen.

With Allcrypt shutting down after 3-31-15, OMC will have no exchange to call home. Currently OMC is in 5th place on the voting list at cryptsy.

I know I'm not part of the OMC dev team anymore, I left on my own behalf after creating the coin. However, considering Omnicoin is in a sticky situation right now, and the current dev team are having trouble getting OMC listed on a popular exchange. I have stepped forward and represented HackForums and OMC in a professional manor to multiple, trusted, official exchanges. Please sit tight, im trying my hardest and have contacted multiple contacts in the crypto field to help with this process. I've of course stated on how urgent it is to get listed ASAP because of coinpayments/coinmarketcap, etc. If everything goes well, expect OMC to get listed shortly (24h-48h). ?

(I cant state which exchange it is yet, but i can assure you its a popular one)
