So I made a pretty simple program.

It logs all messages sent/received over skype to a selected folder. (By default it goes to temp directory)

Did you use the method that attaches to Skype and saves the messages, or do you load the database file?

It attaches to skype and logs messages as they come in.

Pretty simple, but nice share regardless.

How to make an ugly GUI: (Click to View)

Step 1: Use hacker black/green high-contrast colors

Step 2: Still have the default windows color for parts of controls

Step 3: Use unmatching pictureboxes as controls

Still useful now and then for those friends who delete everything...
