Thread: [\[Tutorial\] Sending Redeemed Amazon Giftcards](#)

Doodlebob™ - March 1, 2015, 9:33 am

Hey guys! Do you ever accidentally redeem your giftcards but want to sell them (not allowed on HackForums)? Maybe you want to send them to someone as a gift, but you redeemed them already? Well, here's your solution, found and tested by me!

How to Sell/Send Redeemed Amazon Giftcards:

Step 1: Find your buyer (or friends/family members) E-Mail Address associated with their Amazon Account. Sometimes you will need this, as the Gift Cards will go straight to their E-Mail. Other times, the gift card code will be unredeemed and then you could just give them the code. I recommend getting their E-Mail though, just in case it is that outcome.

Step 2: Go to the Amazon Support Live-Chat.

Step 3: Once you find a representative, make up a story like so:

"Hi. I recently found a few Amazon Giftcards on my table at my house, so I redeemed them. It turn's out they were my brothers and he really needs them back :(!"

Step 4: Continue going on with the conversation, backing up your story. It's really easy, it took me under 5 minutes both times I did this.

Step 5: Eventually, the rep will say one of two things:

1. Ok, I will un-redeem those gift-cards so that he can redeem them on his account!

o

2. Ok, I will send a giftcard of that balance over to his e-mail. What is it?

Step 6: Do as they say, and you're done! There you have it!

Never happened to me, but if by mistake I do redeem it, this is such a great solution.

Thanks

No problem everyone! It should work fine, if you run through any problems let me know!

I wish I had read this earlier on, sucks to be me from the past xD

I've wasted so much on buying things on amazon and reselling them just to get cash in hand from ewhoring.

Guys just ask them to send to your email and save them

Yeah, but this is in the case that you accidentally redeem them!

Going to try this tomorrow,

do they ask you for your account info and such?

All I remember them asking me was if I still had the gift card codes and such which could be found in your gift cards tab or email. I don't really remember as I did this last week.

Dang, this is real useful. Thanks for the information, I'll probably use this sometime in the future. Dunno why I never thought about using a story like that.

I don't think social engineering methods are allowed on HF but thanks for the share

Very nice method, thanks for this.

hopefully this works 100% of the time, and do you need to provide the card code to them?

Latoka - March 1, 2015, 10:43 pm

Nice tut, seems like it would work but with everyone trying it...

This isn't social engineering, it's completely legal.

I don't think scamming is allowed on hf either but that didn't stop you. ?

What happens if you dont redeem the cards? Can the buyer see that and take back the card?

Z3LuX - March 6, 2015, 1:36 pm

thanks for this tutorial :) i will try it later

megazack00 - March 6, 2015, 7:14 pm

If I do it ,it'll only transfer the giftcard from one account to another right?! :(

James Burnham - September 4, 2015, 4:19 am

I wonder if this really works. Post, to try it later.

Pretty useful if you're paranoid over large value cards. Good job.
