Hey guys !

This YouTube Link Grabber was hided in many folders of my USB key so I just share it with you. Take notes that i'm not the coder of this source and I don't know who has coded it.

Maybe it will help somes people or help them to know how is the coding.

I never claimed you were the owner of it. Just stating that a majority of the sources released here seems to be using it. :)

Not only are you just shoving the problem aside out of sheer laziness, but introducing the possibility of race conditions and/or threads being caught up in deadlocks rendering your application useless outside debug. Quite the problem, no?
