Most programs list it but it doesn't actually work, if you can test it with my phone sending one, I'll definately buy it now!That carrier is not supported but I will look into adding it. I'm currently fixing a few bugs that I've found, most of them were conflicting with the GUI (theme). I'm removing the theme and using basic tools and form layouts to make this project a lot more smoother and simpler. The theme I am using currently is throwing a lot of errors and causing this program to crash at random points, I'm going to completely fix all this tonight and these problems will all be fixed hopefully. I'll message everyone that has the program the download link if they purchased this and they will receive it free. I'm going to fix the auto updater which my obfuscation tool completely bugged out and didn't let work.

Thanks for understanding, still taking orders, I will have this fixed tonight in no time. Easy fix, just copy paste onto a new program with a different theme. No biggy.

Waiting on the web based implementation of the program.

Is it able to brake down the phone like one of the other program that was on HF 2 or 3 years ago?

Gørilla - March 5, 2015, 7:54 pm

This program will send texts so quickly that it will crash applications on a users phone, it crashed a few apps of mine i was using. Once we go web based soon this is going to be 100x more powerful. Working on a domain at the moment then were transferring a ton of files over so we can make it safe and an autobuy for easier access. It will also have a ticketing system incorporated into it as well as live chat. Look forward to it:) I'm still taking sales as of right now its working and havent received any complaints. Please shoot me a pm if youre interested!!

It currently only supports tmobile for the uk, and every US carrier. I'm working on getting this web based at the moment (almost finished coding it all up etc.) and then I'm going to have more carriers added.

Vynide - March 25, 2015, 2:53 am

Telenor and tmobile uk are the only non-US supported carriers. Working on more carriers once its web based. Im currently working on a login page for the website now as well as a register page. The web based bomber is coded just need to make it non leakable. Thanks for the patience, autobuy will be implemented and made so you dont need to wait for response and it sends a lot faster with less crashes.

Currently working on th autobuy feature which allows 1 free test bomb and a credit system which you buy a lifetime amount for around 3$, instead of buying x amount of credits a time. Should be done soon! I will be adding more onto the site in due time such as a resolver, a netflix generator, etc.

Keep posted and youll all be pmed with a website link, ir check back here in a week ish!

Gørilla - April 1, 2015, 8:38 pm

Update: The website is working, and the login/register page is complete. I'm currently waiting for the API to be back online, there is maintenance. I am adding in the Purchase tomorrow where you will purchase credits (unlimited) and it will be sent to my paypal and your username will be in the payment, then I will be able to give you access to the bomber.

On another note: Currently adding a skype resolver, and working on a netflix generator once it's up and running.
