

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [Selling domain names! \[.COM as cheap as for 9-10\$!\] \[PayPal only at this moment\]](#)

hellomen - March 7, 2015, 8:49 pm

Hi there!

Thanks for reading.

I will not write why you should pick me as your domain holder, we are going to be straight away to the pricing as we all get tired of that kind of bullshit :-)

Ofcourse you do not have to believe me, but I am doing this for the ones that do want it cheaper and do believe me.

It's either taking or leaving ;-) price list:

I need to work on another thread design.

Any edits/purchases etc.etc.etc. will be handled manually as we are working on an API to let you handle that [except for the purchases - as it will be cheaper]

The bigger we get, the more staff will help.

the .com is checked with namecheap and is at this very moment cheaper than namecheap!

still only 87cents but the longer the registration time dures the cheaper it gets with me vs namecheap!

I hope you will enjoy it for now.

I will be working on a better thread layout and ofcourse some kind of website to handle the editing of your domain name.

Post below/pm me and I will shoot you a PM with what you need to PM me and what paypal the payment should be paid to.

You would have to include your paypal mail so I can verify you as paid!

Mons - March 8, 2015, 6:36 am

Please send me a PM with more information.

hellomen - March 8, 2015, 7:36 am

(Mar 8, 2015 06:36 AM)Mons Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Please send me a PM with more information.

I've sent you a long pm {real written by me} about what information is needed,

Where you can send the payment to etc.etc.

Also about the hosting.

Do mind most of the parts in the PM is by default a requirement of purchasing a domain name.

Yours sincerely,

Mike M.

Punctur - March 8, 2015, 9:51 am

I get .COMs for a couple cents...it isn't hard. $10 for creating a new domain is preposterous.

hellomen - March 8, 2015, 11:07 am

(Mar 8, 2015 09:51 AM)Punctur Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I get .COMs for a couple cents...it isn't hard. $10 for creating a new domain is preposterous.

That's pretty weird as the .com domain holder only sells to big companies for atleast 8-9$, so they will add an additional 1-2$ to get off the costs of the reseller.

10$ is totally NOT pricey for a .com

assuming most of the resellers such as namecheap, name etc.etc. asks around 10-11$ for it.

Punctur - March 8, 2015, 12:29 pm

(Mar 8, 2015 11:07 AM)hellomen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's pretty weird as the .com domain holder only sells to big companies for atleast 8-9$, so they will add an additional 1-2$ to get off the costs of the reseller.

10$ is totally NOT pricey for a .com

assuming most of the resellers such as namecheap, name etc.etc. asks around 10-11$ for it.

No they don't...

the standard price for a domain is a couple bucks at GoDaddy.

Namecheap and GoDaddy you can get them for $1-$2...

hellomen - March 8, 2015, 3:21 pm

(Mar 8, 2015 12:29 PM)Punctur Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) No they don't...

the standard price for a domain is a couple bucks at GoDaddy.

Namecheap and GoDaddy you can get them for $1-$2...

These are not default pricings, they sometimes hold events that allows this.

Godaddy: - at this moment 1cent cheaper normally: 4.99$ more expensive for new registrations

NameCheap:

69 cents more expensive EX VAT.

87 cents more expensive INC. VAT.

That are the original pricings, stop sales trashing with providing false information.

Frig - March 9, 2015, 11:28 pm

(Mar 8, 2015 03:21 PM)hellomen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) These are not default pricings, they sometimes hold events that allows this.

Godaddy: - at this moment 1cent cheaper normally: 4.99$ more expensive for new registrations

NameCheap:

69 cents more expensive EX VAT.

87 cents more expensive INC. VAT.

That are the original pricings, stop sales trashing with providing false information.

It's not "sometimes"..

GoDaddy has had coupons that makes you able to buy .com's for less than $2 (ex. VAT) as long as I've been a user.

hellomen - March 10, 2015, 5:08 pm

(Mar 9, 2015 11:28 PM)Frig Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's not "sometimes"..

GoDaddy has had coupons that makes you able to buy .com's for less than $2 (ex. VAT) as long as I've been a user.

Coupons are not default pricings...

It's fine, go with GoDaddy. My prices are stated as of default prices inclusive VAT.

GoDaddy makes the money with (without coupons) over priced reselling. Understandable as it's a big business.

However there are hosting providers giving free domain registrations out to people as event, doing it for about 2 years now, so if I need to look to every single site I'd better register and give you extra money...

It's your own choiche, please if you have anything useful to say post again, else I'd like to ask not to.

I am BY DEFAULT PRICING (to state it again) cheaper than both companies.