For 1,500 USD a month in Romania you can rent the entire Palace of Parliament.

I don't get why people love BMW's so much. I swear to god everyone on my street have owned/own at least one of them. I wouldn't even consider them as luxury cars, I mean our new Mercedes-AMG C63 is so much better than our old BMW S5 Saloon. Interior and exterior. I don't know, I just don't see BMW's as a luxury at all. But then again I'm a passenger so I guess you could say 'I just don't know'... ^_^

We don't use euros, lmao. We only use euros for renting, buying houses and such things.
At the moment 1 Euro = 4,44 RON.

In what city / where do you exactly want to go. Guessing Bucharest?

To rent a nice villa you'd need about 1400-1600 EUR / month but there are some higher-priced ones too (2000-3000) if you'd like a bigger place, better location.

Why would you want a villa though? They are pretty expensive here... An apartment would be way cheaper :P It's at about 250-350 EUR / month.

Don't know about the car rentals though. There must be some but I'm not familiar with car rental services.

I think you will be just fine if you don't spend too much on useless things. :)

Just out of interest what would make you want to move to a shithole for 6 months?

Why not move to Barcelona or another amazing city...

Even Bucharest where i've been i wouldn't want to spend more than a week.

Ok what would you consider as luxury? Ford? Lexus? Infinity?

BMW, Audi and Mercedes are always on Top List.

Mercedes is expensive

Audi is front wheel drive and doesn't have good engine.

Therefore BMW is top on the list for everyone. Plus it's the ultimate driving machine, period.

Crime rate in Bucharest is close to none. lol. Where did you get your statistics from?

In Bucharest there are 6 quarters out of which only one is "bad" as I'd like to call it (5) where you may encounter some strange characters.

I'll exchange the x amount of usd into euros.

I'll either rent a apartment if I can find a nice modern one for around 1,000 a month in Bucharest.

I wanted to know little things like the price of things there in their currency to calculate how much will be needed.

I agree

Not trying to spend a fortune on a high end sports car.

You can't spend that money in Romania.

You can buy whores, cocaine and a live music, still you'll have plenty of money.
