just doodling, ~1 hour

Joy - March 20, 2015, 6:53 pm

Your illustrations are great as usual.

Dr.Penguin - March 20, 2015, 6:58 pm

It looks really good IMO. I could not draw anything close to that.

Sunkist S0D4 - March 20, 2015, 7:17 pm

I dig it honestly, quite a unique style.

Vector Master - March 20, 2015, 7:29 pm

where can i sign up for this student program?

The Judge - March 20, 2015, 7:30 pm

Very nice portrait of Orchid.

I'd rate it at 8/10

Deadbyte - March 20, 2015, 7:32 pm

Judging by me it looks awesome mate.

Try PMing unreputed, sasori, or invisus. they are the leaders and will provide you with all the info you need.

additionally, you can add flashy.flash on skype and ask him to teach you.

Crazy illustration!

I really like it, also a sick style of art!

Mattixio - March 21, 2015, 2:57 am

Just love this style of drawing keep it up!

You shouldn't contact anyone for the fbn student program because fbn no longer exists.

However, if you want to spam the hell out of baghead, here's his skype: cheezboy

OT: The illustration should have been made with adobe colorburn instead, its solid overall though

I know, it would've been better to illustrate within color burn and rig up some bone structure so I could animate it easier with the auto-animation tools, but I'm not very comfortable with color burn's pentool since I was just invited to the beta about a week ago. Still getting used to the program but it's really cool how you can just click an image, insert some points and it'll automatically animate it for you!

Is there any course or tutorial you can recommend me, if I want to start drawing characters/design logo? I'm a complete rookie inside AI, but very comfortable in PS.

Google is your friend, there are hundreds of beginner Illustrator tutorials online. Get comfortable with the UI and just watch different tutorials on Youtube. Vectortuts+ is also a good site.
