Does it have the actual opiads in it and is it different from the ones on Amazon? I ask because kratom is illegal in the us but is definitely a potent substance.

Kratom is not illegal in the US. There are no opiates in this because those would be illegal. These do contain kratom.

This some kinda chemical xanax or what?

Rhizoid - March 24, 2015, 11:10 am

I have been a long time consumer of Kratom and have even made my own extracts of it. Do you know what exact strain of kratom is used?

If you'd like to send me a vouch copy I'd leave a very detailed, professional review and would probably end up becoming a long term customer as I'd be very interested in a easier way to consume kratom.

I don't know the specific strain of Kratom that's used in this product but I could says it's definitely one of the reds.

I don't think I can do any more vouch orders. Already a few out and that should get the ball rolling!

Never tried this specific product but I love Kratom. Not too sure of the strain I use to order but it gives you a nice a buzz and helps with minor pain. A lot of people I know use it for opiate withdrawal as it actually binds to the same receptors, great stuff!

One shot will give you a vibrant but mellow chill out feeling. Kratom in lower doses is stimulating to some degree... like a shot of strong coffee. More than one shot and you can start feeling the opiate-like effects that make it so great :) low tolerance could have you buzzing hard off one though, like myself.

Thanks so much for the review! The taste IMO is still extremely bitter for my taste and like you said they do use a lot of sugar to try and mask it but it doesn't work very well and might as well not have any sugar at all. I find that it pairs really well with orange juice.

I use my own products and I can say that it does exactly what it says it does. I took two bottles my first day and I felt like I had taken a percocet or two full with the itching and nodding :) I got a lot of nausea as well which might be due to the lack of tolerance.

Yea, surprisingly these weren't as strong as I thought, but still get the job done. My room mate was curious as he never seen these before and I let him try one. He hated the taste, but within 30mins he felt so stoned and chill he was fine with the taste. He told me that if I ever order from you, he buy some too.

For me though, it didn't get me as chill as I wanted. Both my room mates are knocked out doe.

Not at all. Nausea is normal with Kratom. It will pass. Just drink lots of fluids and keep the bottles away from her :P

And also, the vouch images show it coming from JackBGoods.

Are you by any chance offering discounts on other items from that same site?

I don't think you're allowed to sell "drugs" regexks_ I've been warned for selling herbal products before. Not sure why the hell this would be allowed if it's pretty much the same shit.

This is not intended for use primarily as a drug. It is used for relief of muscular pain from exercise and not something you just pack in a bowl and smoke and it's not labeled that way either. It's like drinking an herbal tincture or tea.

After a long work out and miles of running, I already purchased in advance, and was looking forward to a calm relaxed body. The relaxation effects will slowly build, and peak later on. A feeling of being at a calm bay seems to take place, music is absolutely in a 360 degree spectrum, sweet thoughts that comfort submerge, very drifting, definitely took me into an opulent ever increasing stage. Perfect after the long workout, thanks for this quality product, and at an affordable price, vouch for this!
